Brown at New D.C. School...

J.F.K. Students Hear Governor

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Gov. Edmund (Pat) Brown autographed a baseball for "My Pals" in the fourth grade at the new John F. Kennedy Elementary School in Daly City yesterday.

Accepting the ball on behalf of his schoolmates was young Joe Grech— hero of the day to more than 340 shivering and dusty children.

The governor, an hour late in reaching the windswept schoolgrounds where a score of newsmen awaited him, did not explain his tardiness, except to apologize and tell those assembled his daughter, Cynthia, once taught the fourth grade in Daly City.

Teachers had herded their charges into the still-not landscaped yard about an hour before the Governor actually arrived.

When word reached Principal David Hansen that the arrival time had been changed, the children were taken back to their classrooms.

As the children filed out for the second time, one youngster remarked, "I don't know if I WANT to see a governor—what IS a governor, anyway?"

Governor Brown told the children he had been governor for about eight years and wanted to talk to them about education in the future.

He asked if they thought it would be allright for four-year-old children to start school, to which one attentive boy in the front of the crowd answered, "Man, that's nice."

The Governor pointed out his administration had spent some $11 billion in less than eight years on education in the State.

Brown's 5-Point Program Proposes More State Aid

Governor Brown told a businessmen's group in San Mateo yesterday California employers with full time workers will have their unemployment insurance payments reduced 7 per cent beginning next year.

Brown, in a re-election campaign swing through the Bay Area, spoke earlier in Daly City on the prospects of easing school property tax burdens and improving classroom instruction quality.

In his text prepared for his Daly City address before parents and educators Brown said he would submit five proposals to the legislature next year to meet the demands of education and property tax relief.

Brown said he would ask for:

The raising of state contributions to public schools and the reduction of property taxes so that the state would share an average of 50 per cent of the cost of education.

The extension of laws now reducing class size in the first, second and third grades so they would cover all elementary school grades.

The supplying of risk capital to local schools to design better teaching methods, to expand the use of educational television an to create a statewide network of model schools for the future.

The modernizing of statistical training in high schools and junior colleges.

State funds for a program to start children in California schools at the age of four.

Brown said the tax relief funds would come from federal tax rebates given the state by the enactment of the Heller Plan by Congress.

He said some $300 million of the $500 million in rebates thus granted would go toward tax relief and school program improvement.

Brown said Reagan's call for tuitions at state colleges and the University of California "would punish the very middle and low income families who need tuition-free campuses to give their youngsters a chance at a college education."

Flier Dengler Tells His Story

(Special to The Times)

A handsome San Mateo County Navy pilot told yesterday how he ate snakes and was dragged behind a water buffalo before he escaped from communist captors in Laos.

Lt. J. G. Dieter Dengler, 28, of Pacifica, told a tale of horror in his first press conference since his 23-day trek through the jungle to freedom.

He said his desire to be free carried him through. "It's great to be alive — alive and to be free," the pilot who lost 59 pounds said. He addressed the press conference at North Island Naval Air Station in San Diego.

"You really don't know what freedom is until you have escaped from a Communist prison camp," he said. Dengler's confirmation that he was a prisoner of the Pathet Lao, not the Viet Cong, was the first official word the Navy released about his daring escape. The Pathet Lao are Laotian Communists.

Dengler said that on the morning of February 1 he took off from the aircraft carrier Ranger in a ALH attack plane on a mission to bomb communication targets in North Viet Nam, near the Laotian border. He said his plane was struck by heavy ground fire and that he crashed into a small clearing in Laos near the border of North Viet Nam. He said his helmet was torn off by the impact, but his shoulder harness held him in the cockpit.

He suffered minor injuries.

Dengler said he evaded possible capture for a day sleeping in the jungle on a lightweight nylon cushion. A jungle animal (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Home Industries Law to Council

Despite opposition from several "small businessmen" the South San Francisco Planning Commission Monday passed and sent to the city council a tough, new law governing so-called "home industries."

Purpose of the ordinance is to protect both homeowners and businesses in South San Francisco, City Planner Dan Pass said earlier.

The law spells out what is considered a "home industry" and what is not. No persons residing outside a home where the "business" is being conducted may be employed.

Nor can a private dwelling's garage be used for storage or manufacture in relation to the business, according to the new ordinance.

With the exception of Commissioner Joseph T. Zlatunich, the commission passed the measure and sent it to the city council for approval.

Commissioner Frank Mammini recommended two changes—concerning signs and food cooking—be made prior to passage.

Pass said present home occupations would not be affected by the new law.

The commission also approved an amendment to an ordinance concerning design and location of airspace and buildings in condominium and community apartment projects.

A Hard Day At School

The South San Francisco Unified School District was hit hard on the first day of school Monday — first by more than 11,870 pupils, next by a rolling earthquake and, finally, by a group of indignant teacher pickets.

Aside from several irate residents of the Westborough area who were not notified of a last-minute transfer of their children from the Montevido Elementary School to the still-unfinished Foxridge Elementary School, the seasonal onslaught of school children in the district went smoothly.

And the earthquake, which rocked two states, went unnoticed by both teachers and pupils alike.

But the carnival of pickets armed with colorful placards reading, "Let Union Teachers Speak," "Let Teachers Practice What They Teach," and asking, "Is This America?" continued to attract curious residents of the surrounding community.

Marty Hamilton, president of Local 1119, South San Francisco Federation of Teachers, said his organization would keep picketing "until we're heard."

Last night some 22 teacher-pickets slowly circled two entranceways to the district's boardroom. Shortly after 8 p.m. pickets filed into the room and sat quietly displaying their signs.

As Board Chairman Leo Eserini asked for a motion on the previous meeting's minutes, Hamilton arose and started to read a prepared statement urging the board to consider allocations for capital outlay at South (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

Portables Not Yet Completed

The first of Westmoor High School's portable classroom units is expected to be ready for occupancy late this week, trustees of the Jefferson High School District in Daly City learned Monday.

The sales manager of Modulux, Inc., the firm providing the relocatable classrooms, said "one, possible two" of the buildings will be ready by the end of the week.

Robert W. Eidsvoog, pointing out that two setup crews were pushing the Westmoor project, explained that while the firm missed its first expected completion date of September 1—prior to school opening yesterday—it still will be nearly 60 days ahead of its statute finishing date.

Fourteen of the classrooms are being provided to solve overcrowdedness, at a cost of nearly $100,000 to the district, as an alternative to busing of pupils to other high schools.

The delay in "construction" has caused a revision of class scheduling plans, and students this first week of school have been receiving instruction in scch places as hallways, the cafeteria and the stage, a school official said.

A Re-trial For Gust On 1 Count

Pacifica Vice Mayor Nick Gust, arrested last July in connection with a disturbance aboard an airliner, was found not guilty of disturbing the peace in North County Municipal Court Monday.

The jury could not agree on a verdict on a companion charge of drunkenness which stemmed from the same incident, and a mistrial was declared. A new trial will be held on the drunk charge, court officials said, but a date has not been set.

Gust was arrested by San Mateo County sherfif deputies at the San Francisco International Airport on the complaint of a stewardess.

Gust and a party of friends were returning from a trip to Las Vegas when the altercation aboard the plane occurred. He has maintained he was sober and had no part in the incident, and that his arrest was the result of a case of "mistaken identity."

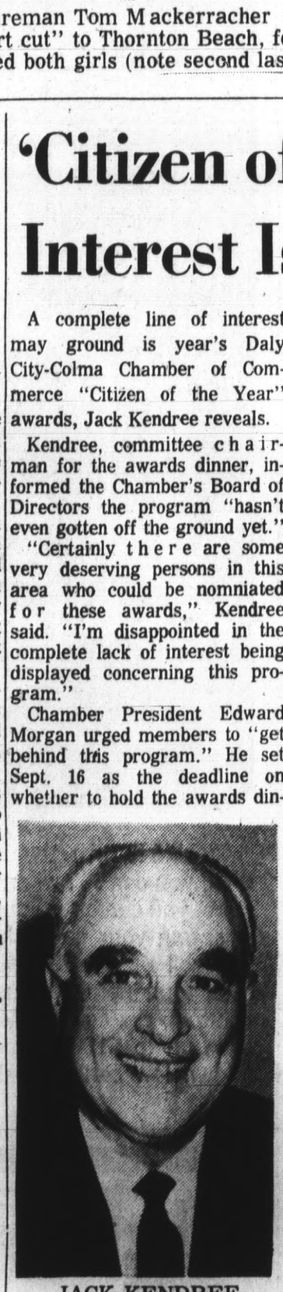
'Citizen of Year' Interest Is Lagging

A complete line of interest may ground is year's Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce "Citizen of the Year" awards, Jack Kendree reveals.

Kendree, committee chairman for the awards dinner, informed the Chamber's Board of Directors the program "hasn't even gotten off the ground yet."

"Certainly there are some very deserving persons in this area who could be nomniated for these awards," Kendree said. "I'm disappointed in the complete lack of interest being displayed concerning this program."

Chamber President Edward Morgan urged members to "get behind this program." He set Sept. 16 as the deadline on whether to hold the awards dinner or to cancel the scheduled Oct. 15 event.



JACK KENDREE
. . . Disappointed

The general public may nominate any person they feel is worthy of the title "Citizen of the Year" from the following three categories:

(1) Senior Citizen: Anyone 50 years or older who has been a resident of Daly City for at least 15 years and has rendered outstanding service to the community.

(2) Junior Citizen: Any person under 50 years and a resident of Daly City for at least 15 years who has rendered outstanding service to the community.

(3) Public Citizen (State-Federal): This category includes all ctiy, state or federal employees, or those in the field of education, who have served the City of Daly City in an outstanding manner.

Nomination papers for the awards may be obtained at the north county offices of The Times-Post 30 Park Plaza Dr., Daly City, or the Chamber of Commerce office, 6454 Mission St.

Contract For Transmitter

Daly City councilmen awarded a contract for construction of a new transmitter building and antenna tower to the Dwight Fowler Co., low bidder on the project, at Monday's council meeting.

Fowler's bid of $18,190 was the lowest of three received.

Daly City Woman Is Freed

Embezzlement charges against a former Daly City Police Department clerk were dismissed Monday by Superior Judge W. Howard Hartley, because of lack of evidence.

Exonerated was Mrs. Janet O. Colburn, 49, of 30 Belhaven Avenue, Daly City, who was dismissed from the department last January and was charged with falsifying public records to conceal the theft of about $2,000.

After Mrs. Colburn was freed of the charges, her lawyer, Thomas L. Bocci, asserted that some $5,000 is unaccounted for in the police department office, and that there are "at least 10 possible suspects." He demanded that the department revise its method of handling bail money to prevent further thefts.

Mrs. Colburn, who had worked for the department for more than two years, was suspended last September and dismissed following a further investigation.

Bocci made this statement:

"It has been my contention right along that the wrong person was arrested in this matter. Mrs. Colburn is and always was innocent of the crime. Those responsible for the theft of bail money set Mrs. Colburn up as the prime suspect to avoid detection.

"As a long-time resident of Daly City and a property owner in that city, I am calling upon the city council to set aside sufficient funds to renew its investigation of this matter. My own investigation has revealed there there are at least 10 possible suspects, any one of whom may be the guilty party. In the neighborhood of $5,000 is unaccounted for. The city fathers should leave no stone unturned in seeking out the guilty parties."

TELLS OF ESCAPE—Navy Lt. (j.g.) Dieter Dengler, of Pacifica, with mother at San Diego news conference where he told how he became the first U.S. serviceman to escape from North Vietnamese. Dengler escaped from captors in July.

crawled across his legs and awakened him, he said. He was captured February 2.

Two men wearing U.S.-type shirts and trousers, sunglasses and rubber boots, and armed with a rifle and pistol captured him as he crossed a trail. He said his captors took him from one village to another, making local villagers lead him in parades through the streets. He said his Laotian captors wore no rank or insignia and spoke no English, but that the North Vietnamese were "the guys who prodded them, inspected the prison camps and drove their trucks through the country."

Dengler said the Laotian people did him no harm and were friendly. He attributed the atrocities done to him to the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao Communists.

He said he was forced to lie spread-eagled on his back with his hands and legs tied to four stakes the first night after his capture. He said he was attacked by swarms of mosquitoes, leeches and other insects.

Dengler said later he was hanged from his feet in a tree and was used for target practice.

"They hung me upside down in a tree and shot at me so close the branches around you broke off," Dengler said. "They tied ropes around your legs, climbed up the tree and put ants' nests in your face."

Dengler said he was beaten and his captors demanded he sign statements denouncing the United States.

Dengler declined to identify the prison where he was taken in Laos or to say exactly how he escaped. He hinted, however, that he and other prisoners planned the June 29 escape because this was during the rainy season. The Navy said Dengler excaped from his captors once before and was recaptured.

Dengler said he, Air Force Lieut. Duane Whitney Martin, 26, and four others escaped from the prison camp. He and Martin got farther away than the others, he said. He said he did not know whether the others were captured or if any of them signed anti-American statements.

"We (Dengler and Martin) crawled along past a trail and all of a sudden somebody jumped out of the bush and screamed 'Americani' Americani,' They hacked him in the leg and shoulder. I don't know what happened. I saw him fall. I just turned around and started running."

Of his tortures, Dengler said, "I believe being dragged behind a water buffalo was worst."

Dengler said the date has been set for his marriage to Marina Adamich of Belmont, a research assistant at Stanford University. When asked what the date was, he replied, "That's personal."

His mother was at the press conference. She is Marie Dengler and was flown here from Germany.

Dengler also suffered a beating by guards when he refused to sign a statement condemning the United States. The nationalized American pilot also denied Soviet charges that he was a West German mercenary fightnig on the side of "American imperialists."

The 28-year-old pilot said he carried a German passport which was taken after his capture only to explain his German accent. He became a naturalized American citizen Aug. 3, 1960.

Pravda had charged Dengler was a "Bundeswehr officer dressed in the uniform of an American pilot and, flying an American jet bomber, bombed many peacfeul Laotian and before then Vietnamese villages."

"They say a lot of things," Dengler said.

Dengler declined to describe his escape because he feels other prisoners can escape the same way. He attributed his success to his war years in Europe and later his naval survival training.

"The big animals like tigers don't bother you much in the jungle," Dengler said, "but every time you inhale you swallow 50 mosquitoes. You might find 200 leaches on your leg at one time and you bleed for a long time afterwards.

"You huddle together in the rain and pray. Sometimes you think it would be great not to wake up."

Dengler was sighted July 20 by an Air Force A1 Skyraider piloted by Lt. Col. Eugene Deatrich. A helicopter piloted by Capt. William E. Cowell picked him up shortly afterwards.

"Col. Deatrich saved my life, he was an answer to my prayers," Dengler said.

Asked about the future, Dengler said during imprisonment he often thought of opening a German restaurant and never again going without enough to eat. "Now that I've been fed well, I still have some time and I don't know what will happen then."

S.S.F. Baby Badly Burned

Jeanine Slayton, eight-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Slayton, 662 Baden Avenue, South San Francisco, was critically burned over 90 per cent of her body this morning. Firemen were called to the burning home shortly after 10:30 a.m. The baby was removed from her crib in the bedroom and rushed to Peninsula Hospital.

Parents Ask Bus Stop Be Reinstated

Several parents in Daly City's Westlake region Monday challenged Jefferson High School District officials to a walkfest.

The parents were objecting strongly to abandonment, as of yesterday, of a bus stop near the Lyons Restaurant, in their residential area south of Alemany Boulevard.

School administrators explained the curtailment of service at that and one other area point came about as the result of district attempts to comply with a board of trustee two-mile home-to-school limit and to shave district transportation costs.

(The two-mile figure means that district transportation is offered students whose homes are more than two miles from the high school to which they are assigned.)

But many of the 20 or more parents present at the trustees' regular session claimed the mileage figures used to justify abandonment of the bus stop are incorrect.

Trustees, conceding the mileage to be a primary point of unreconcilable concern, directed another mileage probe be made and that a report of administrative findings be filed with them on September 26.

The parents were pointedly unhappy over the delay in action required by the mileage investigation.

They wanted to know what their children would do in the meantime.

Governor Talks to Pupils

the sparkling new John F. Kennedy Elementary School in Daly City Monday.

Construction of the modern school structure began last September and, except for landscaping and unpacking of equipment cartons, the classes are in full operation.

Principal Peter Hansen (presently heading activities at both JFK and Woodrow Wilson schools) said five new teachers had been added to the staff to meet increased pupil enrollment.

While the building, nestled in a picturesque canyon on the Guadalupe Parkway, is completely new, the pupils are "old," having attended the Woodrow Wilson Elementary School last year.

Hansen said pupils now attending the JFK School will likely return to Woodrow Wilson once that school has been renovated.

The principal said rehabilitation work at Woodrow Wilson should be completed within one year "and we will have these pupils return to classes there."

Seven buses now make 14 trips daily over a two-mile route from four different locations around Daly City.

Woodrow Wilson School now accommodates four classes. These children will continue to attend that school during the renovation work, Hansen said.

In addiiton to the 14 classrooms, the JFK School includes a "remedial reading" room in its planning.

Part of the funds for operation of the reading room — designed to assist children experiencing difficulty in reading and understanding certain reading materials—will be borne by the State under the Miller-Unruh Reading Act.

Prys Way In

A burglar used a pry bar to force his way into the home of Edward M. Mitchell Sunday night, Daly City police reported today.

Mitchell said the burglar took a radio and cash valued at some $231.

San Francisco and El Camino high schools.

District Supt. Dr. Paul Nielsen had earlier refused to have the item placed on the agenda, instructing the Union representatives to discuss the matter with the "recognized" five-member negotiating counsel.

Before Hamilton could complete his opening statement, chairman Eserini angrily rapped his gavel and shouted, "You are out of order . . you are out of order."

Hamilton turned and walked out of the room followed by the other pickets.

"I think his (Eserini's) actions were a little more than unreasonable," Hamilton told The Times.

A Reversal: Humble To Get Station

The San Bruno City Council reversed an earlier decision Monday night and voted 3-2 to approve a use permit requested by Humble Oil Company for a service station in the Pacific Heights area.

The action came after the oil company agreed to meet conditions imposed by the council in an effort to remove objections of the Pacific Heights Homeowners' Association, a group of residents opposed to the project.

However, representatives of the association continued to voice their opposition Monday night, stating at the hearing that they "do not want commercial property or spot zoning in the area."

The permit will be issued under the condition that traffic lights and other improvements at the intersection be installed before the station begins operation, the council stipulated.

'Short Cut' To Beach Is Steep

Two Daly City girls were rescued from a narrow ledge 150 feet above Thornton Beach where they had clung for more than an hour last Thursday.

Stacey Gober, 11, 498 Northaven Drive, and Denice Ogilvie, 12, 651 St. Francis Boulevard, told rescuers they decided to take a "short cut" to the ocean below and started climbing down the steep precipice.

Once they reached the ledge, the girls tried to turn back, but found the cliff too steep.

An unidentified youth passing by spotted the girls and ran to the fire station.

When efforts to climb down to the girls failed, Fireman Tom Mackerracher was tied to a winch cable and lowered some 50 feet to the ledge.

Grabbing up one girl at a time, Mackeracher was hauled slowly back to the top of the cliff and safety.

Neither child was injured in the ordeal.

Fire Captain John Roy said the girls "picked the steepest section of the cliff" as a route to the beach.

He said the girls first climbed an eight-foot high fence bordering the cliff, before starting their descent.

Car Plunges Over Devil's Slide— Pacifica Housewife Is Injured

A Pacifica housewife miraculously escaped death, but was badly injured last Wednesday, when her car inexplicably swerved off Cabrillo Highway and plunged 350 feet down the rugged edge of Devil's Slide south of Pacifica.

Reported in critical conditon at Mary's Help Hospital's intensive care unit is Mrs. Rose Ann Prouty, 40, of 868 Linda Mar Boulevard. Attendants said she has multiple fractures and lacerations.

Officers said Mrs. Prouty was northbound at 3:10 p.m., apparently from her job as an employe of a candle factory in Half Moon Bay, when her car swerved across the southbound lane and down the cliff to the beach below. Mrs. Prouty was thrown from the vehicle and found lying on the sand, 40-feet from the car.

An ambulance attendant who arrived at the scene climbed down the cliff and administered first aid to Mrs. Prouty until a Pacifica Fire Department crew in the department's rescue truck arrived and lowered a basket from the truck's winch to raise the injured woman and the attendant to the roadway. Firemen said that 350 feet of the winch's 400-foot cable was used in the rescue operation.

Westlake Event For The Kids

Kids will have their day at Westlake Shopping Center, Saturday, when Westlake merchants culminate their semi-annual Dollar Days Sale with an "outdoor party" for the little folk.

Highlighting the Kids Day, will be the courageous adventurer of outer space — Captain Satellite!

Captain Satellite, star of his own daily TV show on KTVU-Channel 2, will appear to meet the children — in space garb — at 1 o'clock. He will have balloons and souvenirs for all.

The always popular Kiddies Lunch will be served on-the-mall, consisting of a genuine Coca-Cola, hot dog and bun with all the trimmin's, for only 9 cents.

In real life, Captain Satellite is a true pilot, flying his own Cessna 170 to many personal appearances throughout the Metropolitan Bay Area. Children flock to meet him everywhere. He still holds the record for a one-day theater appearance in San Francisco.

This will mark Captain Satellite's initial appearance at Westlake Shopping Center. Visiting hours for the Captain are from 1 to 2:30 p.m. Cokes and hot dogs will be served from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Suspect In Car Theft In Custody

San Bruno police are holding a 23-year-old El Granada man, Larry A. West, on car theft charges and possession of a deadly weapon.

West was arrested early today by San Bruno Patrolman Richard Reed.

But, that is the tailend of the story.

First of all, West came to the attention of San Bruno Patrolman Richard DeLucchi at 11:45 p.m. Sunday when he (West) drove a red 1963 model red convertible the wrong way down a portion of El Camino Real to reach a service station.

DeLucchi reached the station soon after. However, he let West continue to the rest rooms. Only West didn't go into the rest room, but fled the scene.

A check of the red car West had been driving showed it to have been stolen, Police said, better than a month ago, from a Ronald D. Wier of San Diego.

In the meantime, it is alleged that West took a San Bruno resident's car that was parked some five blocks away from the El Camino Real traffic violation; William R. Brosamle of 888 Mills Avenue reporting someone was stealing his auto.

Patrolman Reed stopped West for his second encounter with San Bruno officers at 12:20 a.m.

Inside the car, on the front seat, investigating officers found a 20-inch wooden club, with a 3½-inch hook pianowired to it, in addition to a pair of knives—one of which had some type of red substance on its blade. The knife possibly had blood on it.

Teens Are Burglary Suspects

At least five cases of burglary have been solved with the arrest of two teenage South San Francisco High School students, police said Monday.

The boys — ages 15 and 17 — allegedly told police they had broken into a private home, two bars, a drive-in restaurant and a service station.

South San Francisco detective Jack Rhodes began investigating the case early last month, following a burglary at the home of Mario Mazzonti in that city.

Rhodes said the youths followed identical patterns during subsequent burglaries.

Victims included Detes Tavern, 303 Grand Avenue, Topper Club, 249 Grand Avenue, Union 76 Service Station, 901 Airport Boulevard, and the Best Drive-in Restaurant on Airport Boulevard.

Both youths were turned over to juvenile authorities at the Hillcrest Juvenile Facility following their arrest Tuesday.

By LE PACINI

CONTRARY to popular belief, and despite recent sex checks in Budapest ordered by the International Amateur Federation, chances of women athletes landing a good man are enhanced by their participation in and understanding of sports — if a woman's physical education program is approached properly.

In the Jefferson Union High School District, and in other school districts throughout the country, the approach is becoming progressively proper.

Although we've always suspected so, we made sure by asking a young woman eminently qualified to talk about athletics.

Diane Abraham has been a physical education teacher at Jefferson Union High School since 1962 (between babies, a boy 3, a girl 2) and was a top woman athelte herself. She's married to assistant football coach (defensive line) and acting Director of Athletics, Allen Abraham of San Francisco State College.

Her father was one of the great first basemen of his day, Dolph Camilli (of the Dodgers), who later managed the Oakland Acorns and who is now a major league scout.

Her brother, Doug, catches for the Washington Senators, and three of her other four brothers — Dick, Dolph and Bruce — also played professional baseball (Dolph is now a coach at the University of Arizona). Dick was in the Detroit chain, Dolph and Bruce in the Yankee chain.

Her youngest brother, Don, is a budding football star at American River JC, and her sister, Joanne, is a swimming star at San Francisco State.

DIANE says that the stodgy notion that sports participation de-feminizes a girl is the anti-thesis of what really happens.

"Ideas about physical education in general have been changing since President Kennedy's drive on youth physical fitness. That and a greater interest in women's athletics sitmulated by international television coverage, especially during the Olympic Games and specifically in the beautiful gymnastics events have all served to actually glamorize women's athletics.

"What we want to do is develop the girl overall. Girls' physical education is no longer a steady diet of JUST learning games. We're now moving more and more into gymnastics, modern dance, and swimming, all of which teach grace and creativity, and certainly don't detract — in fact, add—to femininity, and none of which deny our original objectives . . . physical fitness and caring about sports through the realization of their importance in our society.

"There's a definite correlation not only between the physically fit woman and the healthy woman, but also between the physically fit woman and the physically attractive woman.

"A girl who is feminine and nice to look at, and who, if she dates a boy who likes to take her to baseball games, for instance, will be able to intelligently discuss at least the fundamentals with him, is the kind of girl we like to turn out of our physical education program."

Diane admits that the United States still has a way to go to match female physical fitnèss programs as they exist in Europe and Russia, and won't catch up until the colleges, now hard at work on the problem, are able to provide more qualified teachers in the "new PE," and until that knowledge is filtered down through the junior high school level.

She also points out, however, that it is not the purpose of such a program to specifically train women for Olympic Games competition.

"WHILE we don't underemphasize competitiveness — afterall, it's instinctive in most Americans — we don't overemphasize it, either. We emphasize sportsmanship and team play. We teach the girls that, just as in life, there will be time when, for instance, they'll have to put up with an athletically inferior teammate, even though she may cost them the game, simply because she's one of them and can't just be cast aside."

Diane, obviously, worked under such a program in her prep school days, because she's attractive, fit, healthy, and almost certainly talked football with Mr. Abraham.

And what does a girl who was brought up in an athletic family and married into one do in her spare time? If you expect us to report that she builds model airplanes or reads Haiku poetry, you're wrong. What she does is, she swims, plays tennis and badminton.

She presently has a standing $100 badminton bet going with her husband, whom she feels can't beat her without cheating. Even now, a tournamnet is being arranged by friends in both camps, and we hope that that prep PE program Diane went through taught her, besides fitness, grace and creativity, a little something about competing for high stakes.

LOCAL NOTES: Local sports writers (including yours truly) were scooped by a San Francisco daily last week which ran a big feature on local girl Kathy Bradshaw, who at age 14, recently became the youngest leagally licensed beginning sailplane pilot on record. Probably, also, the smallest. She's 4-feet, 8, weighs 64 pounds.

The Daly City girl soloed on August 27, her fourteenth birthday.

Daly City cyclist Dave Bostrom will be entered in the October 2, 100-lap Northwest Championship races at Brisbane. His hot Triumph got him there when he recently took the feature TT Scrambles main event in a Brisbane Champion Speedway warmup. His brother, Paul, was running second in that one when he crashed midway through.

TAG ENDS: Matty Alou would be hitting .298, instead of around .350 were it not for beat-out bunts. We wonder whether he's gotten smarter since he's been with Pittsburgh, or whether, being a Giant, he felt obliged — if not told to — go for the fences.

The Oakland Junior Chamber of Commerce has pulled the OAL football season out of the hat temporarily with donations, benefits, etc., but we wonder if they really expect people to keep giving — especially for the less glamorous spring sports—once the novelty of being saviors has worn off. There can be no perpetuity in such a situation.

A letter writer has a couple of sound suggestions as to how to make baseball's stretch runs truer and more artful. He feels that pennants are too often won or lost on injuries and-or the exhaustion of key players late in the season, not so much because of the number of games they play, but because of the games they play under pressure.

The answer is more rest, and he figures the way to provide that is a full week's vacation during the All-Star break (which the players who must participate in the game need more than the also-rans), and-or a permanent 28 man roster.

Horseshoe Tourney At D.C. Near

Signups are still being taken by the Daly City Recreation Department for an Adult "Singles" Horseshoe Tournament to be held at Westlake Park on September 24.

Persons interested in competing in this tournament should contact the Recreaion Department, 992-4500, extension 18, or Joe Valcazar, DE 4-7319, or UN 3-2330 immediately. Before being eligible for competition, a player must shoot three qualification games in order to be put into the proper tournament classification.

Players may qualify at Westlake Park between 1 and 4 p.m. on either September 10 or September 17. Qualification games must be recorded by tournament co-ordinator Joe Valcazer, who will be at Westlake Park then.

A $1 entry fee, made payable to the Daly City Recreation Department, is required by September 20.

Persons who have not thrown three qualification games and-or have not turned in their entry fee will not be allowed to compete.

Times/Post To Offer Awards For Grid Picks

Cash prizes of $500 will be awarded by The Post-Times in the eleventh annual Football Contest which starts a 10-week run today.

Rules and official entry blanks appear on Page 8, along with the popular "Tommy Harmon Football Forecast."

Each week $50 will be offered for the contestant who can correctly pick the results of 15 collegiate football games. If no one has a perfect entry, the prize money carries over to the following week. The contestant with the most number of correct selections will receive two tickets to the Stanford-California Big Game.

If the cash winner is also a Times subscriber, he will receive a $50 bonus award.

Official entry forms will appear each Tuesday and Wednesday in The Times and each Wednesday in The Post.

Golden Gate Conference Play Starts

The Golden Gate Conference football season will open October 7-8, with all eight conference members seeing action. In the first game, at 2:30 p.m. October 7, defending league and Prune Bowl champion City College of San Francisco hosts Diablo Valley —who marred the Rams' otherwise perfect GGC record last season with a tie in the league finale.

CCSF also kicks off the state's non-league schedule with another afternoon date, entertaining American River JC of the Valley Conference on September 16.

Three other GGC members open their slates the same weekend with games against Valley foes, while the remaining teams get into action September 23-24.

On September 16, Contra Costa is at Sacremento CC and College of San Mateo at San Joaquin Delta (Stockton) at 8 p.m.

Diablo Valley opens at Fresno CC the next night.

Other lid-lifters feature San Jose CC at neighbor West Valley on September 23; plus Chabot at Yuba, Foothill at American River, and Merritt at Citrus — all on September 24.

The GGC's head coaching alignment remains the same as last year with Ed Hart at Chabot, Dutch Elston at CCSF, Cliff Giffin at CSM, Vince Maiorana at Contra Costa, Sam DeVito at Diablo Valley, Bill Abbey at Foothill, Jim Swan at Merritt, and Jim Wheelehan at San Jose CC.

Conference Commissioner is Dr. Louis F. Batmale of CCSF.

PAL Benefit Starting September 17

The Eighth Annual Daly City Police Athletic League Benefit Bowling Tournament will kick off with a gigantic opening squad at 7 p.m. Saturday, September 17. The Tournament will continue until October 30.

Local dignitareis, sports celebrities, and members of the Men's and Women's Bowling Associations have been invited to be on hand as Daly City Mayor Al Polonsky rolls the first ball to officially open the Tournament.

In past years, over $35,000 in merchandise prizes has been awarded to PAL Tournament bowlers. The prizes, which have been donated by Bay Area merchants, have resulted in sufficient bowlers competing in the Tournament to provide all the expenses of the PAL program.

The Daly City Police Athletic League was the first PAL program organized in Northern California and each year has over two thousand participants in the various sports programs.

The public is invited to be on hand for the opening ceremonies.

Women's 'Slim Trim' Meetings

The Daly City Reureation Department's Women's Slim Trim group will start meeting every Tuesday and Thursday beginning next September 13, at the War Memorial Gymnasium from 10 a.m. until 12 noon.

No pre-registration is necessary and it is free for all women in the community. For further information, call Miss Lessard at the Recreation Department.

Westlake Bowling

All roads lead to Westlake next Saturday night as the Kickoff Squad of the eighth annual Daly City Police Athletic League Benefit Bowling Tournament gets under way at 7 p.m.

Mayor Al Polonsky will roll the first ball to officially open the tournament, after which over 200 bowlers will take to the lanes in the first competition of the six-week tournament. As in past years, it is expected that the merchandise prizes, donated by Bay Area merchants, will exceed $5,000 in value.

SCRATCH league bowlers will have plenty of opportunity to compete this winter as there are leagues at all levels at a variet of times. The 850 Mixed Scratch League will get under way today for men and women with averages in the vicinity of 170.

For lower average bowlers, there will be three scratch leagues on Sunday mornings. Further information may be obtained by calling the Westlake Bowl deskman.

The "bowlers of tomorrow" will be back in action next Saturday as Marge Brown, junior director, holds a "bowling jamboree" at 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Boys and girls from 8 to 18 years of age are invited to be present and obtain information on the junior program for the coming season.

As the Daly City Recreation Department 100-Plus program came to an end the "graduates" received their diplomas. In the graduation tournament, Bob Connelly led the "over 100" group with 144 followed by Mario Paolini with 143, Joan McDermott 136 and Steve Rehfeld 122. Leaders in the "under 100" division were Brenda Lipston 128, Leslee Bipes 114, Yvonne Woodward 105 and Cliff Harada 104.

LEAGUE meetings and opening nights are the order of the day at Westlake this week. With children back in school and vacations over, bowling has again captured the interest of youngandoldinthe Westlake area.

The 1966-67 winter season started off with a bang in the Ball and Chain Mixed Fives League as Doug Hodgins posted a big 618 series on games of 241-189-188 as Charlene Westram led the ladies with a 208 game and a big 550 series.

Another "first nighter" who found that the summer rest helped his bowling was Rene LeFrancois in the Westmoor Handicap who rolled a big 236 game and 563 series.

Indians Beat Calvary Cross

The Daly City Recreation Department's 1966 Late Summer Midget Baseball League came to an end last week as the PAL Indians defeated Calvary Cross 10-2 to become co-champion of the league with the BYA Astros.

Tom Federico and Chuck Collendrez paced the Indian attack as both boys combined to pitch a one-hitter against Calvary Cross. Jerry Mitchell was the batting star for the Indians as he went 2 for 2 at the plate. Greg Melinkoff got the only hit for the losers.

GIRLS' GOLF

PITTSBURGH —Kathy Ahern of Dallas and Claudia Mayhew of Carmel, Ind., meet Saturday for the SUGA Girls National golf championship.

Miss Ahern topped Pamela Sue Fox of Corvallis, Ore., 4 and 3, while Miss Mayhew beat Mariann Eichelberger of Abington, Pa., 2 and 1 in the two semifinal matches.

Playboys Defeat Mets Manager

The Daly City Recreation Department presented its first annual Baseball Managers Softball Game last week at Westmoor Park as the Playboys squeaked past the Mets 18-17 for the victory.

The Mets got off to an early lead in the second inning as Ray "Run Run" Patterson singled and Walt "Tornado" Trafalis cracked a tape measure homerun that landed someplace on the Junipero Serra freeway.

This put the Mets ahead 2-0, but only temporarily, for in the bottom of the second inning Louis "Boom Boom" Bizjak led off with a clothesline single, "Brahma Bull" Bob Borghello followed with a single, "Charming" Chuck McGuigan drove in the first run as he laced a single.

"Easy" Ed Chan knocked in two more runs with a double, Rich "Fuzzy" Brower hit a "frozen rope" to drive in another run, "Dynamite" Dave Barry rapped a line drive single as did Earl "The Stick" Cesena, then Bizjak collected his second hit of the inning to account for two more runs, but Met pitcher John "Dizzy" Donaldson retired the next two batters to end the inning leaving the score, Playboys 10, Mets 2.

The Mets managed three more runs in the fourth to make it a 10-5 game, but the Playboys came right back to score a solo run and make it 11-5 after four innings.

The Mets came to life in the fifth inning though. With two men out Harvey "Cuddles" Cross ripped a single, Patterson followed with a single, "Tornado" Trafalis was safe on an error to load the bases, "Dizzy" Donaldson then whacked a single scoring Cross and Patterson.

With men on second and third, Mickey "The Sandsnifter" Corso wrapped as single scoring Trafalis and Donaldson. "Bullet" Bob Perry was safe on an error but then scored on Phil "The Flame" Diaz's line drive single.

Lou "The Lion" Smith lined out to end the inning, but the Mets closed the gap as they scored 6 runs to make it an 11-10 game.

The Mets pulled ahead in the sixth inning as home runs by Trafalis and Corso sparked a 4 run rally. But, the Playboys came right back to score two more runs on a booming homerun by Earl "The Stick" Cesena.

With the score 16-15 in favor of the Playboys in the eighth inning, Corso cracked a triple to knock in one run then scored on an infield out to cap a two run rally and put the Mets ahead 17-16.

In the bottom of the eighth for the Playboys "Hustling" Russ Chiosso started a two run rally with a single, went to second on a walk to Bizjak then scored in front of Bizjak on a 2 RBI single by "Charming" Chuck McGuigan

The Mets were not able to score in the ninth so the game ended with the final score Playbous 18, Mets 17.

Outstanding defensive plays were turned in by Lenny "The Bear" Barnett, "Lightning" Larry Forney, and "Charming" Chuck McGuigan while hitting honors went to McGuigan, Trafalis and Corso with four hits apiece.

All these things and others you find are worth good hard cash to other families . . . and all you have to do to get in touch with your buyer is dial 342-7711 or prefix nearest your home (listed below) to help you move out those black sheep.

Macy Construction Wins Okay at S.S.F.

Construction of Macy's $15 million service center was given the green light last week by the South San Francisco City Council during a sometimes stormy meeting.

Several homeowners from the Winston Manor area, adjacent to the proposed 30-acre site between El Camino Real and Mission Road, loudly protested the council's granting of a use permit to the giant firm.

Paul Kaufman, of 109 Longford Drive, fired the first round—starting the opposition ball rolling with a barrage of questions regarding increased traffc generated by Macy's when the complex is in operation.

"When this matter was first discussed there was no mention of an adjoining United Parcel Service building on the site," Kaufman said. "Now, I understand that UPS will operate large trucks in and out of the service center."

Kaufman pointed out that from two to eight additional freight cars will be shuttled along the siding near the service center.

Planning Commissioner Dan Pass agreed that a "tremendous amount" of truck traffic would be experienced as a result of the center, but the El Camino Real was an arterial road designed for heavy traffic.

"Macy's service center will generate far less traffic than a 30-acre concentrated shopping complex," Pass told the more than 50 spectators in the council chambers.

Another homeowner protested the "unimaginative combination office and warehouse" that Macy's had planned for the area.

Pass interjected that there was a difference between a "warehouse" and a "service center" and further informed the audience that the area was zoned commercial—not industrial.

A former member of the city's Planning Commission, Warren Stienkamp, asked the council why the area had been rezoned C-1 from recreational.

Mayor Frak J. Bertucelli countered "Where would we get the money to develop a park—the city didn't have any."

In a shot at the council Stienkamp said, "All I can say is this is certainly a misuse of land—the worst piece of planning that I have ever seen."

Antonio Montoya, another resident of the area, accused the city government of a "communications breakdown."

"The various agencies in city government used to come out and explain things to the people. They don't do that any more," Montoya said.

Regardless of the opinion of its future neighbors, Macy's will start construction on phase one of the center before the end of the year, according to John Egan.

Egan, backed by four representatives of the gaint retail firm, heaped facts and figures regarding everything from employe growth over a ten-year period to the location of Colma Creek, during last night's pre-meeting.

In order to make full use of the site Colma Creek must be relocated.

Unless certain modifications are effected, buildings fronting the creek could be in danger from flood waters, according to City Engineer Louis H. Goss.

"We are willing to move the creek in good engineering standards and are also willing to provide a right of way (eastment) for final Army Corps of Engineers specifications for Colma Creek," Egan informed the council.

The Army Corps of Engineers has authority over the creek, however finalized plans regarding specifications were not expected for several years, Goss revealed.

Egan said his company was willing to shoulder "certain expenses" on the creek "but we shouldn't be called upon to do the ultimate," he said.

Once the channel has been "modified" it will be able to carry flood waters from what engineers consider a "30 year flood" or some 2,000 cubic feet per second (CFS).

Present capacity of the creek is estimated at slightly less than a "five-year flood." The Corps of Engineers is expected to require the creek to handle a "100 year flood."

Even if Macy's rebuilt the channel to maximum requiremens, the Army could not reimburse the company for expenses incurred, Goss told the council.

Another barrier to the smooth flow of waters down Colma Creek is a San Francisco water pipe which crosses the stream near the Macy site.

"We've asked San Francisco to move this pipe and they said they would do it in the near future—that was about five years ago," Goss said.

Mayor Bertucelli instructed Goss to send a strongly worded request to that city regarding relocation of the pipe.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

By Donald C. Waite

A LOOK INTO THE FUTURE

What will the home of tomorrow be like? Here are some ideas on how our home will look perhaps 20 or 30 years from now—or less. We thought you might enjoy reading this.

Lamps will be cordless. They will automatically turn on when you enter a room, and then turn off automatically when you leave the room. You won't have to worry about closing windows anymore when it rains. Windows will close electronically by themselves when rain starts. Walls will be one-way transparent—you'll be able to see out the whole length of the wall space—but nobody will be able to see in.

Some decorators feel tables will be recessed into ceilings and then lowered electronically when needed.

Chairs and sofas will be recessed into walls. When you want one—you just push a button and out it comes into place.

These chairs and sofas will have adjustable legs that will automatically raise or lower for tall or short people.

These are great ideas to think about, and no doubt they'll all come true, but, meanwhile, if you want some present down-to-earth furniture values for your home, we are ready to serve you with the best there is—in the world today—for your home right now.

Our decorators, here at Sterling Furniture in Westlake Shopping Center, are at your service no matter what your decorating problem may be. We are open Wednesday and Friday evenings 'til 9 p.m. for your shopping convenience.

Fire Starts Up A Second Time

A young man at Pacifica thought he had extinguished a small day bed fire shortly after 1 a.m. Friday. But he and firemen knew differently at 4:20.

Pacifica Fire Captain Cal Hinton said Charles W. Eady, a tenant of a one-bedroom apartment at 190 Paloma Avenue, fell asleep on a day bed in the living room at 10 p.m. awakening at 2 a.m. to get a drink of water.

When Eady sat back down on the couch he recieved a 15-inch-long burn on his right side, about six inches below the shoulder blade, Hinton said. Eady started pouring pansful of water onto the couch. He told captain Hinton he thought he had the fire extinguished—that is, there was no more smoke—in about an hour's time.

The young man then went to a bedroom to sleep.

Pacifica Police Patrolman Orin Hargraves discovered smoke pouring from the apartment while on routine patrol. Firemen were summoned and Captain Hinton on his hands and knees searched the rooms until he found Eady still asleep on the bedroom floor, a blanket pulled over him.

They exited in the same manner.

Hinton said the major flame damage was to the couch, onto which a cigarette might have dropped. But, there was damage throughout the apartment because of smoke and intense heat.

Attempted Holdup Is Thwarted

An attempt to hold up the Barbata Shell Station in Daly City by an armed gunman was thwarted early Monday morning when a truck door was pushed in his face by an angry attendant.

Police said the hatless gunman, wearing a long grey coat and brandishing a pistol, walked into the station about 4:30 a.m. while attendant Tom Marriscola was cleaning the inside of a truck cab.

The would-be robber instructed Marriscola to "stay cool adn no one will get hurt."

Instead of "keeping cool" the angered attendant "lost his cool," kicked open the door and knocked the gunman off balance.

S.S.F. Motel Operators Ask Tax To Be Postponed

South San Francisco's major motel operators asked the city council last week to postpone final action on that city's new "bedroom" tax, "until such time as the industry is given an opportunity to ...express their views."

But the petition came too late, the ordinance had been passed unanimously by the council earlier and was scheduled to go into effect in early October.

Four representatives from motels in the area affected by the ruling appeared at a pre-council caucus and presented their views on the tax.

E. Larry Myers' operator of the Cavalier Motel, blasted the tax and said the city "would not realize any appreciable benefits from the tax."

"We just don't want to be tax collectors for the city, it will cost too much," Myers said.

Another representative, Bob Fontana, also of the Cavalier Motel, read from a prepared statement which labled the new tax "immoral and an abuse of legislative powers."

Replying to the charges, councilman Andrew Rocca said the council was "'pretty much committed" and the tax "was going to be passed one way or the other."

Rocca said that if the city had not passed the tax ordinance, the county — or even the state — might impose their own tax on the motel-hotel operaors.

"We should keep these revenues in the city," Rocca said. "I really believe you fellows haven't analyzed this matter from your own standpoint. The tax won't hurt you — it will help you."

Mayor Frank J. Bertucelli pointed out that the money resulting from the tax would be used to "beautify the city and attract tourism."

But Fontana insisted the tax matter be differed "until such as there is a proven need for it."

Main arugment of the operators is the "competative disadvantage" regarding effective dates of the new four per cent tax around the county.

"The effective dates should all coincide," Fontana explained to the council.

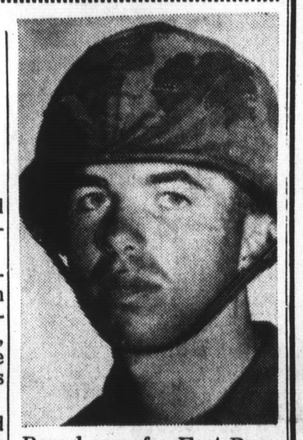
Fontana likewise hit the council's stand on the justification for hurredly passing the ordinance "that if the city councils, don't enact this bed tax, the (County) Board of Supervisors will."

"Such a position is not valid and, as a matter of law, the Board of Supervisors cannot enact this bed tax or impose such a tax upon the hotels and motels within the incorporated limits of South San Francisco," Fontana said.

Fontana went on to cite Government Codes and county statutes on the matter, in addition to past proposed tax ordinances which were brought up before Legislature last year and failed.

The petition, signed by the city's eight major motels, asked that the council establish a study board consisting of both government and motel representatives.

"You've escaped so far — we don't think we are asking too much of you people," Rocca told the representatives.



Bound soon for Fort Benning, Ga., to attend reconnaisance school is Marine Pvt. Paul Howe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Howe of Colma. Howe is completing advanced infantry training currently at Camp Pendleton.

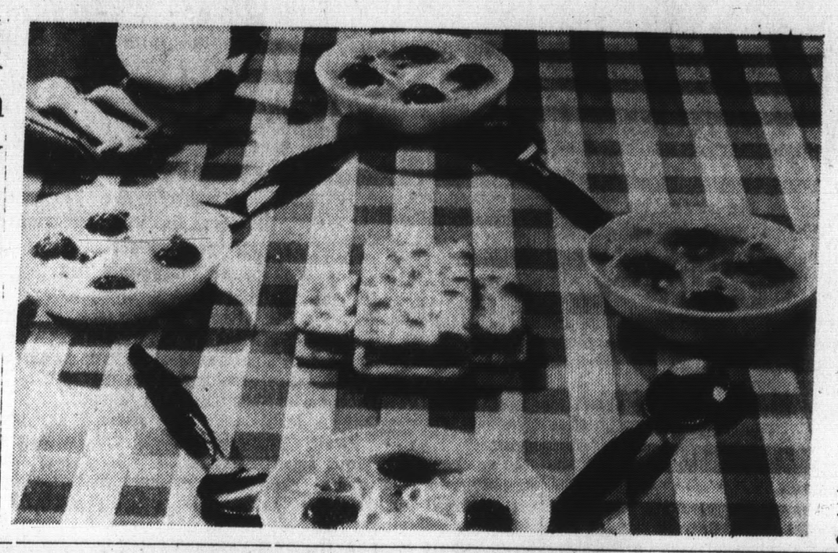
Hot Tuna Bun Recipe Today

Next time you see a tuna sale in your favorite Peninsula market, think of Hot Tuna Buns. Next time, you won't wait for the sale.

Hot Tuna Buns

Combine 1 can (7 oz.) tuna, drained and flaked, with ¼ cup mayonnaise, ¼ cup minced celery, 2 tablespoons chopped dill pickles, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, and ¼ teaspoon salt. Fill 4 hamburger buns with tuna mixture; wrap in foil. Bake sandwiches at about 400 degrees F. for 12 to 15 minutes. Four sandwiches.



Your Sultan of Swat Will Encourage This Recipe Pitch

"Mom, you're a 14-karat diamond!" This praise will be your reward next time your young Sultan of Swat returns from the sand lot diamond bringing his hungry teammates for lunch. When the game's over, of course, they're ravenous but who wants to break up the fun for lunch unless they can have it together and talk over the game.

And, what do young Babe Ruths like to eat? What's ready to heat on the shelf— soup, of course, with nice big crackers, some celery sticks, and ice cream bars on a stick for dessert.

Shape ½ pound of ground beef with seasonings into small balls; brown. Add soup and simmer a few minutes. It's a ball player's soup, very special but ever so easy to fix.

Another soup that wins top honors from hungry pitchers and catchers is a combination of bean with bacon soup with macaroni and frankfurters. Serve this husky soup with peanut butter and jelly sandwiches. Fresh fruit is the "sure-bet" dessert here.

DIAMOND MEATBALL SOUP

½ pound ground beef
1 tablespoon minced onion
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 can (10½ounces) condensed chicken noodle soup
1 soup can water
½ cup diced cooked carrots
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
⅛ teaspoon poultry seasoning

Combine beef, onion, salt, and pepper. Shape into 12 small meatballs; brown slowly in saucepan. (Use a little shortening if necessary.) Pour off any excess drippings. Stir in soup and remaining ingredients. Simmer a few minutes. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Ham Rollups Can Be Refrigerated

Ham rollups can be made easily and set aside for company.

Spread 6 thin slices boiled ham with mixture of 1 package (3 oz.) softened cream cheese and 2 tablespoons minced chutney. Roll up and fasten with wooden picks; wrap and chil serving time. Six rolls.

Nobody wants to work overtime on a salad bowl; but on the other hand, it's a pleasure to present guests with one they'll like. Here's the simple solution.

Carnival Salad Bowl

Wash and break into small pieces ½ head romaine, ½ head iceberg lettuce, and ½ bunch watercress; drain; chill. At serving time toss greens with 1 cup diced apple, ½ cup seedless grapes, ½ cup diced cheddar cheese, and 1-3 cup bottled French or Italian dressing. Four to six servings.

Try Stop and Go Carrots For Those Hasty Youngsters

Chauffeuring your youngsters in busy 5 o'clock traffic may rattle your nerves and leave you wondering what to serve for supper. Here's a red, orange and green suggestion just as collorful as a traffic light—Stop and Go Carrots. They taste just great and are so simple to prepare.

These little carrot nuggets are frozen in butter sauce and are cooked right in their own flavor-tight pouch. To give them a carrots-a-go-go flavor, spark the nuggets with pimiento pieces, crisp bacon bits, diced green pepper and a hint of vinegar. Your Stop and Go Carrots will disappear so fast you'll need to check your family for "speed-eating."

STOP AND GO CARROTS

1 10-oz. package carrot nuggets frozen in butter sauce in flavor-tight cooking pouch
3 slices diced bacon
1 tablespoon chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
2 tablespoons diced pimiento

Slip pouch of carrot nuggets into boiling water. Bring water to a second boil; continue cooking 18 minutes. Do not cover pan.

Fry bacon until crisp; drain excess fat and remove bacon to one side of skillet. Saute onion and green pepper. Add vinegar and pimiento; stir into cooked carrots. East into serving dish. Yield: 2 to 3 servings.

Peach Sweet Tooth Pleaser

When that sweet tooth is just achin' for some goodies, remember Peach Supreme. It'll come in handy this autumn as the fog diminishes and the sun comes into its own.

Peach Supreme

Peel and slice three peaches (about 2 cups). Combine with 2 tablespoons each confectioner's sugar and lemon juice, ¼ cup honey, 1 teaspoon rum flavoring, and grated rind of 1 orange. Heat slowly, stirring often. Spoon warm over scoops of vanilla or peach ice cream. Six servings.

Margaret Simao Bride Of William Duncan

Margaret Ellen Simao became the bride of William Paul Duncan at St. Timothy's Ca Manuel Simao Jr.

The newlyweds honeymooned at Carmel before returning to a residence in San Mateo. William is the son of Leona Duncan and the late Mr. Duncan.

For her marriage, Margaret wore a gown of satin fashioned with a Chantilly lace train. Her veil was secured by a rose headpiece and she carried carnatins and orchids.

Mrs. Rose Johnson served as the matron of honor in a green satin gown. She carried peach colored carnations. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Frances Johnson, Mary Ferrugia, Flora Tann, Louise De Armen, Nancy Nolte and Marie Johnson. They wore yellow taffeta gowns and carried bouquets of green carnations. Patricia Simao served as a flower girl for her sister in a white organdy frock and Manuel Simano III was the ring bearer for his sister's wedding.

Best man duties were fulfilled by Bill Patton as Johnny Johnson, Virgil Johnson, Charles Johnson, James De Armen, James De Armen Jr. and Dale Maderis shared ushering duties.

Mrs. Simao selected a yellow sheath trimmed with lace and a lace jacket for the occasion. William's mother wore a lace suit.

Margaret is an alumna of Hillsdale High School and William attended South San Francisco High School. He is the brother of Earnest, Ellis, Louise, Imogene and Ermatdene Duncan

For her wedding trip, the bride changed to a green knit suit.

S.S.F. Cubs Go Fishing, See Giants

South San Francisco Pack 282 followed its very successful recent "Packnic" with another well-attended outing to see the Giants play at Candlestick Park. The 19 Cubs who attended the ballgame were accompanied by Mrs. Claire D'-Amico, Mrs. Gayle Vickers, Mrs. Barbara Wendt, and Mr. Manuel Castro.

The Municipal Pier at Princeton was the scene of a very entertaining fishing trip for the Cubs.

Nine Cubs, including Philip Dostie, Peter Mrowka, J. Vickers, David Chiechi, Also Rivas and their fathers caught nearly 100 small perch and ling-cod and one smelt; that was caught by Junior guest, Chipper Vickers.

Frank Brown enlivened the proceedings by hooking a sea gull, after two hours of not catching anything, he then accomplished the not-so-easy feat of snagging two fish at once. Jimmy Norton, whose parents, Homer and Betty Norton, arranged the details for the trip, caught the first fish of the day and also caught the most.

Film Series To Begin At Pacifica

Pacifcia's fall foreign film series will start Friday at 7:30 p.m., with Dr. William H. Miller's introductory presentation, "The Great Misunderstanding," at Oceana High School's multi-purpose room, with the three films, "La Strada," "Hiroshima Mon Amour" and "No Exit," following on successive Friday evenings.

This Friday night, Dr. Miller will attempt to set a context of thought for the series designed to make the films meaningful in terms of man's "Quest for Intimacy," which is the series theme.

He will blend two basic facts concerning the human species: First, that man is born with an innate drive for sovereignty and, secondly, that he has an opposing drive for intimacy.

The resulting internal conflict and how it often robs the individual of the very thing he seeks, will be the central theme of his talk, which will be followed by about an hour of questions and discussion.

Series tickets are still available at the Recreation Department office in the Pacifica City Hall. They are $3 for the entire series regardless of age, and single program tickets will be sold at the door for $1.50 on the night of the performance.

Dr. Miller, who is director of community education at College of San Mateo, has worked closely with the local sponsoring organization, the Community Cultural Co-ordinating Committee, on building programs in community education.

Under Miller's guidance, a summer series the CCCC presented in Pacifica, "The Natural Histoy of Pacifica's Beaches," met with so much success trat the Community Room of the Sharp Park Library was filled for every lecture.

The ues of larger facilities at Oceana High School will allow for greater community participation.

On September 23, Dr. Morton J. Keston, professor of psychology at San Francisco State College, will present the first of three programs built around the films.

Prior to each film Dr. Keston will set forth basic concepts regarding "The Quest," and afterward will comment and lead discussion designed to establish understanding of the film in terms of these concepts.

Water Topic To Be Discussed

Water!
Is there enough?
Is it drinkable?
What is an "acre foot?"

These are but a few of the questions members of the Preprovisional League of Women Voters of North San Mateo County will be discussing at their first unit meeting of the year.

Water resource chairman, Mrs. James Knotek, said that water resource development and water pollution present technical, economic, and political problems. The California LWV has been studying water resources since 1958. The unit discussion will be primarily concerned with the state's responsibility for water quality.

Mrs. Knotek also said that an acre-foot is "the equivalent of water one foot deep covering an entire acre of 43,560 cubic feet, or 325,850 gallons!"

Unit meetings will be at the following locations: Tuesday, September 20 in San Bruno at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Syd Posner, 2780 Merion Drive with babysitting at 2700 Merion Drive; Wednesday, September 21 in Pacifica at 9:30 a.m. at Holy Cross Lutheran Church on Seville Drive, with babysitting available at the church; also on September 21, Daly City-Colma at 7:45 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Troy Daniels, 67 Parkwood Drive; September 22 in South San Francisco at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Manuel Skoufos, 2495 Tara Lane, with babysitting at 2510 Tara Lane.

A nominal charge will be made for babysitting.

Any woman of voting age is invited to join the league; all guests are welcome. For further information contact Mrs. Troy Van Zandt, Daly City, unit organization chairman, at 755-2963.

Are boys on the sidelines when Scouts in their neighborhood are exploring new frontiers—hiking the Historic Trail at the Presidio, camping at a rugged Sierra campsite, or learning a new skill?

The fall roundup of the Boy Scouts of America with its theme, "Follow the Rugged Road—Be a Scout," will make it possible for thousands of boys in the Bay Area to be Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Explorers, according to Vice President Ralph J. Becker, chairman of the membership committee for San Francisco Bay Area Council.

Cub Scouts are 8, 9, and 10-year-old boys who meet weekly in a small group with a den mother and once a month at a pack meeting with their parents. Boy Scouts must be at least 11 years of age. Explorers are at least 14 and in the ninth grade.

By NELL NORTON

The All-American favorite—ground beef—rates high on the preference list in other countries as well. Recipes for its use are legion, attesting to the popularity of this versatile and convenient meat item with meal makers around the globe.

Certain cookery ideas for ground beef originating in kitchens of other lands have already been adopted—and the dishes have become familiar and welcome additions to our own menus. There are others to discover and enjoy. It was this thought which prompted research and development of some wonderful ground beef recipes which I recently received and shall pass on to you good cooks.

These recipes start with a basic recipe for meatballs and then branch off into all sorts of interesting recipes reflecting the tastes of many countries.

Every recipe in the book sounded delicious so I just selected the one that appealed to me at the moment. And at that moment Keftedes—Meat Balls Grecian-style appealed.

MEAT BALLS (Basic Recipe)

1 pound ground beef
¼ cup dry bread crumbs
⅔ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
⅔ cup evaporated milk
2 Tbsp. butter

Mix together the ground beef, crumbs, onion, salt, pepper and evaporated milk in a medium-size mixing bowl. Shape into 12 meat balls (or 40 small balls for Swedish-style meat balls). Melt butter in a large skillet over medium heat. Add meat balls, turning occasionally to brown all sides.

In place of fine dry bread crumbs, one of the following may be used as an extender; ¼ cup uncooked corn meal or ⅔ cup uncooked rolled oats, or 1 cup soft bread crumbs (approximately 1½ slices bread pulled into small crumbs), or ¼ cup finely crushed corn flake crumbs, or ¼ cup cracker crumbs.

NOTE: For 12 meat balls, use scant ¼ cup mixture for each ball. For Swedish meat balls, use 1 level measuring tablespoon of meat for each ball (40 balls).

KEFTEDES—MEAT BALLS GRECIAN-STYLE

1 recipe meat balls
1 cup water
1 medium eggplant, pared and cut into ¾-inch cubes
cup sliced celery
¼ cup flour
1 teas. salt
1 cup evaporated milk
1 Tbsp. chopped pimiento
¼ cup coarse cracker crumbs

After meat balls are browned, add water, eggplant cubes and sliced celery; stir lightly to mix. Bring to a boil over medium heat, cover skillet lightly, turn heat to low and simmer 25 minutes.

Remove from heat. Sprinkle with flour, a little at a time, stirring to blend. Add salt. Slowly stir in evaporated milk. Cook uncovered over low heat, stirring occasionally, until thickened, about 10 minutes. Stir in pimiento and cracker crumbs. Makes 6 servings.

Serve with tomato pilaf; saute 1½ cups uncooked rice in ¼ cup butter until golden; add 3 cups tomato juice, cover tightly and simmer until tender, about 20 to 25 minutes. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Now's Time To Plant That Lawn

The making of a new lawn and the renovating of an established lawn is best done in the early fall. There are several very valid reasons for fall being the best time of year for doing these gardening chores, even though, in our favored climate, it may be done at any time.

The best lawngrasses, such as Kentucky bluegrass, fine fescues and the better bent grasses, mostly set seed in late spring which matures through summer. In nature such seed falls to the soil, and is "planted" just as good autumn growing weather comes. One of the reasons this works so well is that these excellent grasses relish cool weather, doing their best in autumn and early spring. An autumn start provides plenty of time for thickening to a tight sod, and for roots to grow deeply, before exhausting summer weather comes.

Then too, cool-weather weeds are comparatively few and less contankerous. There won't be a threat of crabgrass until next April or May so autumn seeding escapes the worst weed competition.

Merits Of Common Olive Tree

By IVA NEWMAN

Olea europaea, the common olive tree, has never slipped in popularity since the dove brought Noah an olive leaf to signal the end of the flood. (Genesis 8:11). Its popularity in San Mateo is easily proven by a drive through any portion of the city.

Arborists and landscape architects recommend it for use as a street tree, in a lawn, as a hedge, in a patio and for container growing. The habit of growth of an olive tree is conditioned by the soil in which it grows; it becomes a dense, round-headed tree in poor soils, and an open-growing specimen in good ones. It is a small tree adapted for use where space is limited. It tolerates heat and cold to 10 degrees as proven by its presence in the old orchards in the low foothills of the Sierras.

Where watering is a problem olive trees are an answer as they are extremely drought resistent. Arborists state that olive leaves have the ability to close their pores in very warm, dry weather and so stop transpiration. We saw very old olive trees in Italy which our guide said were planted during Ceaser's time. These trees had trunks so gnarled it was difficult to see how nourishment could be carried from the roots to the branches yet, they were still producing fruits that were harvested.

In their youth to middle age the olive tree has gray-barked branches and trunk. The leves, placed opposite one another on the branches are from one and a half to two and a half inches long and from about one half to an inch in width. They are dull, gray-green above and silvery beneath with a firm leathery texture.

The flowers are not ornamentally effective however, it is well to take note of the April to May flowering period as olive trees should never be transplanted when in flower. Even when the trees are purchased in containers from a nursery during this period they should be held until flowering is completely over.

Flowers are followed by purplish-black fruits shaped like tiny footballs. The olive is an "alternate croper" in that it and a much lighter one the next year.

Home and Garden

THE COMMON OLIVE Tree which has been a delight to peoples of every era. Dating back to Biblical times, this tree has furnished both food and beauty for many generations yet is as modern as the latest landscaping.

Two Girls Are Rescued From Narrow Ledge

Two small Daly City girls were rescued from a narrow ledge 150 feet above Thornton Beach where they had clung for more than an hour last Thursday.

Stacey Gober, 11, 498 Northaven Drive, and Denice Ogilive, 12, 651 St. Francis Boulevard, told rescuers they decided to take a "short cut" to the ocean below and started climbing down the steep precipice.

Once they reached the ledge the girls tried to turn back but found the cliff too steep.

An unidentified youth passing by spotted the girls and ran to the fire station.

When efforts to climb down to the girls failed, fireman Tom MacKerracher was tied to a winch cable and lowered some 150 feet to the ledge.

Grabbing up one girl at a time, MacKerracher was hauled slowly back to the top of the cliffand safety.

Neither girl was injured in the ordeal.

Fire Captain John Roy said the girls "picked the steepest section of the cliff" as a route to the beach.

He said the girls first climbed an eight-foot high fence bordering the cliff, before starting their descent.

"We've had several rescue calls on those cliffs already this year," Captain Roy said. "I sometimes wonder how these children can evade their parents long enough to climb around over there."

CANNED PEACHES

Reforms For Bruno Jail Are Advised

A number of minor reforms at the San Francisco jail in San Bruno have been recommended by staff investigators of the State Board of Corrections.

Walter Barkdull, executive secretary of the board, said the major proposals were for additional staff, to help in search and escort activities, supervise the jail yard so there can be more recreation, and carry out more prisoner rehabilitation work.

Hot food carts and service trays were suggested to eliminate cold meals.

(Prisoners at the six-story institution staged a riot Monday over conditions.)

The recommendations were made after field checks by a team of experts, including management specialists and food administrators, from the Department of Corrections and the California Youth Authority.

Police Capture Monkey in D.C.

A Rhesus monkey from India that staged a daring escape from San Francisco General Hospital last week, was believed captured by Daly City police and SPCA officials Sunday, in the garage of a private home.

Captors were uncertain if the 18 pound fugitive captured at the home of Carlos J. Alomia, 314 Frankfort Street, was the same monkey that had successfully evaded San Francisco police for more than a week.

"He's healthy and in good spirits," and SPCA official told The Times this morning. "No one from the hospital (where the monkey escaped) has come to identify it as yet."

Alomia called police for assistance shortly after 11 p.m. last night, when "I saw a monkey going into the garage."

Officer Robert Sola, a veteran of other demanding escapades involving the department, investigated the call and assured himself that, indeed, a monkey was cornered in the garage.

Shortly after, the SPCA was summoned and "operation monkey" was put into operation.

Within minutes, the scratching, climbing, snarling escapee was "secured" and hauled off to the Coyote Point animal shelter — home for wayward monkeys — and placed in isolation until someone from the hospital's research laboratory arrives to identify it.

The Rhesus monkey has led San Francisco police a merry chase over lawns and rooftops since its escape. Several spottings had been reported and checked out, but the animal escaped actual capture each time.

Closest the monkey had come to capture during his week-long escapade was last Friday, when an "army" of SPCA and police descended on the 900 block of Deharo Street, armed with everything from a tranquilizer gun to pistols.

The Wrong Way 1-Way Windows

It is a delightful story, to those who view bureaucrats with a mixture of disdain, contempt and apprehension. About the one-way windows facing the wrong way in the brand new, and expensive, Public Health Service's office building in Arlington, Va. The one-way windows in the 24 lavatories, that is.

Apparently unobserved by either the contractor or the 900 occupants of the building, the wrong-way windows in the glass structure were first noticed by a reporter. He pointed out that the scenes thus revealed to the outside world were easily viewed by traffic on a busy boulevard.

One of the building's architects was quoted as saying, "I can't tell what happened, except that it shouldn't have. I don't know who's at fault, but Im going to find out."

It's very simple. The peek-a-boo windows were installed backward so taxpayers could see what their public servants were doing. Loitering reportedly fell off 800 per cent when the word got out about the windows. But lines suddenly began forming at service stations in the area.

In the meantime, corrective action has been taken to install either blinds or new glass in the offending walls. For a long time, Washington pundits will recall the time the Public Health Service really went public.

NOT THIS WAY—These Terra Nova High School students have enjoyed a summer of casual dress, but it's all over now. The pants, boots, elaborate jewelry, long hair and general "Mod Look" do not in any sense meet the school's standards of student dress. The students, in what they consider their more or less "natural" state, are Gayle Kelly, Neva Chambers, Rex Starr and Kit Bedford. (Post Photo)

THIS IS MORE LIKE IT—Abandoning the ultra casual look, the students are now dressed in a moderate and acceptable fashion for the first day of school. (Post Photo)

Campus Dress: School Not To Be Like Circus

By DON GRIERSON

School started this week in most North Peninsula cities, and if this school term is anything like any other anywhere, one of the thorniest problems facing administrators is the matter of student dress.

While attempting to avoid an unduly dictatorial attitude, school officials must at the same time, in the words of one administrator, "insure that the campuses don't come to resemble a circus."

The matter of dress is left almost completely in the hands of each school's local administration, with the California Administrative Code, Title 5-Education Section 64, stating simply that pupils in state schools must be "neat and clean."

At Oceana High in Pacifica, where rules of dress are "strictly enforced," specific standards are outlined in the student handbook.

MOTORCYCLE jackets and sandals are definitely "out" for everyone, and girls must wear girl type clothes, and boys will wear boy clothes and boy haircuts, the handbook states.

Boys will also "be clean shaven, wear clean shirts with turned-down collars or sweaters, appropriate clean shoes (no boots or thongs), and clean trousers."

Girls must wear no elaborate jewelry, "off-the-shoulder" dresses, sandals, thongs, muumuus or sweatshirts, and their hair will be "well-groomed and free from pin curlers or scarves."

Skirts, blouses, sweaters and dresses are considered appropriate for girls.

At Terra Nova High School, "Each student is expected to dress appropriately during school hours and conform to acceptable standards of appearance and cleanliness."

Boys' haircuts should be "in good taste and fairly short. Boys must be clean shaven."

At Terra Nova, the Girls' League Clothes Board has set up a list of dress standards for female students. The board's suggestions are included in the student handbook, a copy of which is issued to each pupil.

AMONG the items not recommended by the board are open sandals, sheer blouses, "Cleaopatra make-up," white lipstick and dangling earrings.

"Blouses should be worn in moderation, chestwise and tummywise, and panel skirts with bermudas underneath are not recommended for school. Skirt lengths should be moderate, not rising above the knee. Long, open slits are also in poor taste."

The Terra Nova rules also stipulate that girls' heels should not exceed two inches in height.

'Corrupted Land' Stirs a Storm

Samuel Chandler

HERE'S one that is stirring up a storm. . . . "The Corrupted Land: The Social Morality of Modern America," by Fred J. Cook, who is making a career out of scorching exposes of contemporary America.

This book is arranged like a medical examination. Chapter one presents the complaint. The next few chapters examine the system. The last names the disease, describes the progress and prescribes a cure.

For the last chapter alone, Cook will, I predict, feel the winds that blew upon Charles Beard, Kenneth Galbreath, and others who have suggested a change of direction for American economics.

"The central fact of modern life," writes Cook, "is the fact that this is the age of mass society, of the computer and automation, of overproduction and overabundance.

"It is a society that is entirely new, vast, complex and different."

He states that neither Karl Marx nor the prophets of "laissez faire" foresaw this age. Yet, man clings to the outmoded concepts that produced them. "We are trying to run all the intricate industrial machinery, all the massive power complexes of the latter twentieth century on the structure of an eighteenth century private profit ethic—that is an anachronism in the oncoming age of cybernetion."

THIS attempt has produced our immoral society. "To channel all of the enormous power and resources of the twentieth century technological society toward the goal of free enterprise and private and corporate profit is to create a social system at war with the vast majority of its members.

Cook accuses American education of mass-producing scholars and workers to meet the demands of big, faceless power complexes.

But Americans, nurtured in the ethics of rugged individualism and filled with ambitions, can't be subjected to mass production—so within the big corporations that control the machines and the profits and within the big unions that control labor, Americans jockey for position and for wealth with "inside knowledge, favoritism, espionage, blackmail and private greed replacing the traditional American ethics of honesty, hard work, thrift, and sacrifice."

AS PROOF, he describes scandals in every walk of American life. From student cheating to tax evasion; from browbeating to Bobby Baker; from hording to Billie Sol Estes.

The handwriting is on the wall, he writes.

"The tremendous forces that have been unleashed—the forces that are herding the vast majority of us onto the payrolls of gigantic corporations, cannot be allowed to remain the exclusive property of a relatively small management class and their chosen retainers."

The bounties must be spread and shared. "This means inevitably a stronger role for government, a much stiffer regulatory role to curb some of the more buccaneering excesses of the present private power structures."

"The Corrupted Land" by Fred J. Cook will be around for a long time.

A Junior Staging

Barbara Bladen

You're never too young for success, not where show business is concerned. And the Junior Academy cast members of "Reach for the Sky," which will introduce the new young adult organization to the Bay Area should be inspired by the young authors of the show, Stephen Levin, 17, and his cousin, Joel Levin, 22.

Described as a musical farce in two acts, the show was adapted from Moliere's "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme," and had its premiere at Lowell High School in May when its younger originator was a student there. It had enormous success, and filled the thousand seat house to capacity two nights in a row.

Word of mouth and a mention by a popular, well read San Francisco columnist claiming the show to be "good enough for Broadway — New York not San Francisco" —spurred such luminaries as opera soprano Mary Costa and opera impresario Kurt Herbert Adler. The fact that Steve is the grandson of famed costumer Rose Goldstein didn't hurt either.

Intial performances were given last weekend at San Francisco State College, whose faculty has supervised this initial, important kickoff for the non profit Peninsula organization of young adult film makers.

The production will be Friday and Saturday nights at College of San Mateo Little Theater under the supervision of Mel Elliet of their faculty. Tickets are $5 to defray thecost of this ambitious first venture and are tax deductible. If you call me for reservations, a member of Junior Academy will deliver them to you.

FOR THE PREMIERE, Steve directed, and played the lead as well as taking credit for script and music. Joel wrote the lyrics. The former plans to attend UCLA in the fall to study theater and music and the latter earned his master's degree in educational psychology at the University of California and is working on his doctorate.

"You'll be surprised at how logical his lyrics are," comments Steve.

The young composer had attended a summer theater workshop at State College while still in high school and slid off in a corner of the house to try his talents at writing a play. When an instructor, Peter Candler of Lawrenceville Prep School in New Jersey, suggested working it into a musical, Steve then wrote five songs but didn't know where they should be inserted. That's where cousin Joel of Vancouver, B.C. came in. He added a few more songs (there are a total of 16, two new ones were added for this current production) and Steve asked Jack Pereira, Lowell's musical director, if they could do it as a term project.

"Everyone was very helpful. The principal gave us a budget of $1,500, the highest ever for a school production and the cast was great. It was just an overnight hit with the school, the public and the critics."

Pereira has joined him for his second production, which has a much larger budget, and the cast includes Phil Fouts in the lead role, Peggy Soucie as his wife, Barbara Welge as their daughter. Steve will be playing a small role.

"I played the lead in the original but this is really my favorite role because it has a lovely song to sing. It sure is interesting watching someone else direct it. Quinn Millar, professor of radio, television and film at San Francisco State gives it a real polish."

HOW DID JUNIOR ACADEMY and the Levin boys get together. Nancy White, drama teacher at San Francisco State and mother of Pippa White, the musical comedy singer who is currently appearing in the professional production of "Roar of the Greasepaint, Smell of the Crowd," at the Marines Memorial Theater recommended it to Dr. J. Fenton McKenna, head of the Creative Arts Division at the college and chairman of the executive committee of Junior Academy who was looking for a show to introduce their organization to the Peninsula communities.

As a member of the board of directors which has many noted educators including James Tormey and Julio Bortalazzo, as well as radio and television personality Rolfe Peterson on its advisory committee, I'm pleased that a legitimate show was chosen to show off the group's talent which is primarily a film making organization.

Steve and Joel are currently working on two new musicals, both original scripts which they recognize is "ten times tougher than an adaptation." These four performances of "Reach for the Sky" may be their introduction to the "big time" that is surely in their future.

Mayor Urges Citizens To Donate Their Blood

Daly City Mayor Albert E. Polonsky issued a proclamation today urging citizens to donate life-saving blood during next week's blood bank drive.

The drive is being sponsored by the Fire Department and is scheduled to be held September 21 at the Westlake School between 3 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Captain Lyle Church said the blood will be donated to veterans of the Viet Nam war at Letterman General and Fort Miley hospitals.

"We're trying for a goal of 300 pints of this much-needed blood," Church told The Times. "These young men who have given so much to preserve democracy need this blood . . . I hope we are able to meet this goal."

In his proclamation, Mayor Polonsky noted that last year more than 3,000 pints of blood was used at Fort Miley Hospital to treat some 5,000 veterans.

"A large part of this vital substance was given a by voluntary donors—friends and relatives of the patients, patriotic citizens and members of the Armed Forces— friends of all veterans in need," Mayor Polonsky said.

The mayor further proclaimed September 21 as "Blood for Veterans Day" and asked all citizens to donate.

Captain Church said persons desiring to give blood, but unable to arrange transportation, may call the Main Fire Station and a car will shuttle them to and from the school.

Citizens 'Alerted' After Inquiries

Lorene Beasley

As a result of inquiries, Better Business Bureau gives the following alerts:

MINT COIN SETS — A number of dealers throughout the United States are offering new coins described as "Mint Sets." The complaints received indicate that these sets have been put together by coin dealers using "uncirculated coins."

The official U.S. Mint set consists of five uncirculated coins struck during one calendar year at the Philadelphia Mint and five uncirculated coins struck during one calendar year at the Denver Mint, in denominations of 50 cents, 25 cents, 10 cents, 5 cents, and 1 cent from each Mint, assembled by the Bureau of the Mint; each group of five coins sealed by the Bureau of the Mint in transparent material, the two longer sides of which are edged in blue, and lettering in blue, for coins from the Philadelphia Mint and in red for coins from the Denver Mint.

GERMINAL VOLTAIRE — claiming to be a Swiss watchmaker with a New York City address — has mailed letters and catalogs to many businessmen, offering watches at one-third of their regular prices.

In answer to National Better Business Bureau inquiries, as to where these watches are actually sold at thhe claimed regular prices, Germinal Voltaire has conceded the watches have never retailed in the U.S. through any stores. The only sales in this country have been those made direct by mail at the catalog prices.

Complaints have been received that ordered watches were not received and that refunds for returned watches were not made.

"GI-TYPE" INSURANCE — "Did you drop your GI insurance?" Is the lead question a form letter local veterans have received from Veterans' Insurance Division of Statesman Life Insurance Company, Houston.

The letter states that if you dropped your GI insurance and if your health is good, they can sell you $10,000 worth of life insurance "at the same low basic rates charged by the VA for GI insurance of the World War II, not counting dividends."

The last three words hold the key to this "bargain" because the government GI insurance returned, through dividends, most of the money paid in premiums.

The rates are based apparently on tables applied by the VA during World War II but are considerably higher than rates being offered by most companies today for comparable coverage. The company was charged in May by the FTC with using deceptive means to sell insurance policies.

The complaint alleges misrepresentation in its advertising material, and also that the company's use of the trade name and style in using Veterans' Insurance Division implies that they are in some way connected with some U.S. Government agency, which they are not.

Brazilian Youth Welcomed at Cap Hi

Capuchino High School students, teachers and administrators have welcomed the newest American Field Service exchange student, Paulo deTarso Asfor from Forteleza, Brazil.

The handsome, dark-haired Portuguese boy is living with Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Wright and family of Chestnut Avenue, San Bruno, during his year's sojourn as an exchange student. He attends classes at Capuchino High where his American "brother," Ken Wright, is a senior.

Paulo arrived August 19 and has spent the weeks since becoming acquainted with his new family which includes two "brothers" and two "sisters": Ken; Don, a sophomore at Crestmoor High; Terry, a student at Parkside Junior High; Doddie, an eight-year-old student at Allen Elementary.

VISITOR FROM BRAZIL — Paulo DeTarso Asfor has come to San Bruno as an exchange student from Brazil this year to attend Capuchino High School in San Bruno. His American brother, Ken Wright, a senior, left, shows him about the school.

The Brazilian boy has a twin brother, Paulo Sergio, at home in Forteleza. They mark their eighteenth birthdays September 10, and Ken Wright will host a group of friends at a party Thursday evening in honor of Paulo's birth date.

The son of Carlos and Elizabeth Asfor, Paulo is from a family of eight children. Besides his twin, he has two married sisters, Simone and Sandra; an older brother, Jose Carlos who lives at home and works as an engineer; Elizabeth, 13, now attending a boarding school in Rio de Janeiro; Carlos, 10, and Sylvanis, 8 years of age. The twins attended the Colegio Sao Joao in Forteleza before Paulo came to the United States. His twin brother continues his education in his home city.

Many changes are in store for Paulo as he adjusts to family life in the Wright home and to a climate much cooler than that of Foreleza which is a port city just south of the Equator. Forteleza, Paulo reports, has a population of approximately 300,000 with its major industry importing and exporting. His father, Carlos Asfor, is an importer-exporter dealing in cotton and furs.

Paulo's biggest hurdle in the U.S. will be perfecting his English in order to communicate with more ease and to translate effectively in his school work. He has had a smattering of English over the past four years, but just one year of English in school. He is having some difficulty in understanding the accelerated English spoken in this area. The reverse of this problem was experienced by Don Macartney, American Abroad to Buernos Aires from San Bruno. Don is attending school in Argentina and has mastered the Castellano language to a degree where he is able to commune with no difficulties

Capuchino's 1965-66 AFSer, Marina Solsona, who returned to her home in Argentina in July wrote of seeing Don in Buenos Aires and complimented him as being the "best representative ever" as an American Abroad.

Men's Night At Westlake —Different

Westlake Shopping Center's men's night will be held next Wednesday when season tickets (one pair each) to the S.F. Forty-niners, Oakland Raiders and Stanford University Indians will be offered.

According to Gene Perry, advertising-promotion director for the Center, Westlake has had Ladies Day, Kids Day, Fashion Shows, etc. But never has The Center saluted — really— "the man of the house."

Perry said this will be "his" night with all Westlake stores featuring merchandise peculiar to the male shopper.

Free drawing tickets will be distributed by all Westlake stores throughout the day and eveing — until 8:30 o'clock. At 9:15 p.m. a prize drawing will be held for the season football tickets.

Bank Robber Sentenced

A San Francisco municipal bus driver who robbed a bank of $800 July 11, was placed on probation for five years, with the understanding he would reimburse the bank.

He robbed the Daly City branch of the Bank of America.

Napoleon Russell Brownlow, 33, married with six children, was sentenced by U.S. District Judge George B. Harris. The judge was told Brownlow had a chance of being employed as a steward aboard ships going to Viet Nam.

"I assume this is an isolated adventure into the unorthodox occupation of bank robbery," Judge Harris told Brownlow.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

Samll cavities in the teeth can be filled more easily and with less discomfort than large ones.
If decay is neglected it leads to infection and abscess formation. An infected tooth is a hazard to good health and often must be removed.
A tooth that has been lost should be replaced by an artificial one. If it is not, the other teeth will shift. This shifting may lead to more decay and to diseases of the gums.
Irregular placement of the teeth should be corrected for many reasons: To improve appearance, speech, and the ability to chew food and to help prevent other dental diseases.
Have your dentist check for cavities and follow his recommendations if treatment is needed.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for same, however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Jeff Elementary Boundary Report Given

Just where is the Jefferson Elementary School District?

The answer will be sought in a "district survey and projection" proposed by the district school trustees Tuesday night following a report by Frank L. Greenwood, district superintendent.

Because some district boundaries on the south and east have yet to be surveyed exactly, there might be questions over which homes are in Jefferson or in a neighboring district, Greenwood said.

Also involved is a search for available land for future school sites.

Trustee O. Wayne Douglas suggested adjoining districts might be willing to bear some of the survey cost because of mutual benefits. He also urged that the engineer Greenwood had consulted be present at the next meeting.

Greenwood also said that a current topographical survey would prove useful in present and future estimates of the district population and requirements through use of overlays.

Trustee Thomas F. Noonan remarked that the ill-defined line between Jefferson and South San Francisco had been talked over by both boards in years past and "a gentlemen's" agreement arrived at, but of course, board personnel changes.

Greenwood was instructed to continue talks with the engineering firm of Daniel Coleman and at the next meeting report on cost of the overall project.

Another engineering project at the meeting was the "planting, fencing and correction of the drainage problem at the George Washington School. The Coleman firm will get the go-ahead on the job that will cost $12,400. Completion is expected this fall, according to Roger Barthuli, assistant superintendent for business.

Trustee Peter T. Galiano brought up the subject of his letter of August 12 to the board stating that the California Teachers' Association was a client of his legal firm. Before the latter itself was discussed, however, he asked for a "ruling on what legally constitutes a quorum for board business."

This revived the situation at the special meeting August 22 when George G. Perry, board chairman, had declined to discuss the letter without a full board present. Absent at the time were Trustees Douglas and Joseph Lewkowitz. Tuesday night the full board was there.

Perry said, "the three members in attendance constitutes a quorum." Galiano then asked if agenda items were discussed in order. Perry replied that it was not always true, and that the chairman has the authority on placement.

Galiano then asked if the chairman has the authority to call a special meeting. Trustee Douglas interjected, "All we have to do is link it up in the code. ::It's a matter of policy."

Trustee Noonan, junior past chairman, observed, "I can't recall a special meeting called without the chairman knowing it."

The agenda item "Health Plan Data," made more headway. This subject has been talked about at many meetings and two main points recur:

1. The existing Associated Indemnity Corporation plan has been offered by the trustees to all employes and the board has set aside $8.45 per employe to cover costs.

2. The teachers want more than just one plan to choose from, and suggest Blue Cross and Kaiser plans as alternates. The board has suggested $6.35 as its contribution toward any dual plan.

Trustee Perry said he thought the present AIC coverage should be explained again to teachers, and then they be asked to vote on it or the dual choice. He said, "The school district's contribution of 'X-dollars' could then be decided by the board."

This caused Miss Marilyn Harris, president of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association, to say she would "feel like suggesting to members they abstain from voting, as it is not an equitable choice because we are reduced from $8.45 to $6.35 in a dual choice."

She suggested "improved communication between teachers and the trustees by a joint meeting with common agenda at the scheduled JCTA meeting October 17 at 3:45 p.m. in the John F. Kennedy School."

Other business included the board's acceptance of the gift of a $277 opaque projector from the Olympia P-TA.

Also the announcing of a figure of $16,000 on new cafeteria equipment for the John F. Kennedy and Franklin D. Roosevelt schools. Food service will begin as soon as possible.

From the foreword written especially for this 16-volume series by PRESIDENT LYNDON B. JOHNSON

Few of us, even in an age of expressways and jets, can get to know each of the fifty states by actual visits. Fortunately, this does not mean that we cannot become acquainted with them through the magic of words and photographs. To do so is fascinating.

This magnificent new reference work cost over a million dollars to create. A special staff of American Heritage editors spent two years searching out the latest facts and figures, the most exciting photographs and illustrations, to make these 16 handsome hard-cover volumes a valuable addition to your family reference library. Here are the ways your family will use this up-to-the-minute reference work:

- School-age children will refer to it again and again in preparing school assignments.
- It will make younger children familiar with places the family discusses: where relatives live, where daddy goes on business trips, where family and friends have visited.
- Teenagers planning to go away to school will use it to learn more about the areas surrounding colleges and universities they are considering.
- When your children ask questions about their country, you will find it an invaluable source of answers.
- For every member of the family who enjoys games and puzzles, it will be a constant source of ready reference.

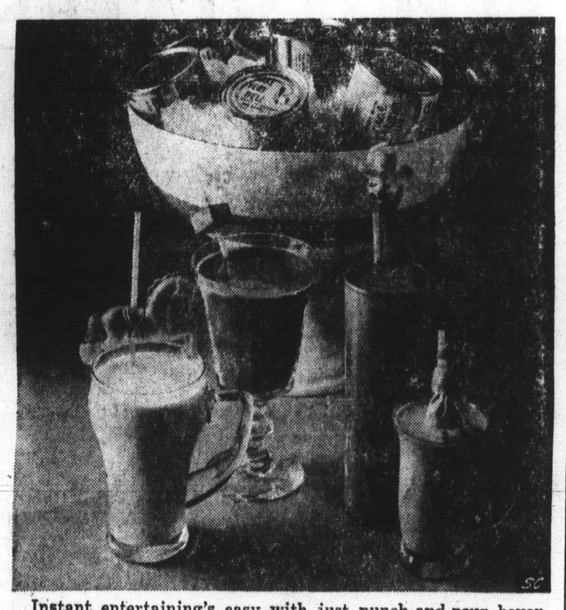
Spoon evenly over mince meat layer. Freeze pie about 1 hour, or until firm. Just before serving, encircle the pie's inside edge and center with remaining mince meat.

Instant Entertainin With Punch 'n' Pour



Instant entertaining's easy with just punch-and-pour beverages—Borden's canned milk shakes are one quick "for instance." With a choice of six flavors—vanilla, cherry-vanilla, strawberry, chocolate, mocha, or coffee—everyone, family and friends, is sure to get his favorite.

With simple preparation, the hostess can take advantage of those minutes saved to earn compliments—by dressing up the drinks. Give a hint of the good flavor to come, suggests the Borden Kitchen. Perch a plump ripe strawberry on the strawberry flavor, or a chunk of chocolate on the rim of the glass. For the more robust eaters, cap with whipped cream, or float a scoop of ice cream or milk sherbet in the shake.

When the hostess feels exceptionally adventurous, she can let guests create their own drinks. Just stock up on shakes and fixings, then stand back and see how imaginative company can be.

Not only do canned milk shakes spark a party, they perk up the energy of young or old, anytime, any place. Each is made with a real ice cream mix and whole milk. In short, they're great treats to tote to a picnic, beach party, or just into the backyard.

Take a Vacation With Versatile Veal

Why not take a vacation from work-a-day dinners? With just a speck of venturesome spirit, a cook can create variations of old favorites, even coin new ones. In many households, veal cutlets and the ham-Swiss cheese duo are regulars; combined they become a celebration. The Borden Kitchen sandwiched ham and Swiss cheese slices between two pieces of veal, then sautéed them to a golden brown. Quick and convenient to prepare, they're especially appreciated when a dinner party's in the offing. Just prepare the cutlets ahead of time, then wrap in foil until ready to cook.

Veal-Ham-Cheese Cutlets
(Makes 6 servings)

12 thin veal slices (4 x 8 inches)
8 slices (one 6-oz. pkg.) Borden's Swiss cheese slices
6 thin slices boiled or baked ham
Flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, slightly beaten
Fine dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons new Danish margarine or butter

On a flat working surface, pound veal slices with a meat mallet until evenly flattened. Top each of 6 veal slices with sliced cheese, a ham slice, then remaining 6 veal slices. Trim edges of ham and cheese to fit veal. With meat mallet pound edges of filled veal cutlets to seal. Lightly dust each with flour. In a shallow dish mix salt and eggs. Dip cutlets into egg mixture; coat each evenly with bread crumbs. In a large skillet melt margarine or butter over medium heat. Sauté cutlets about 5 minutes, or until an even golden brown; turn once. (If necessary, add more margarine or butter to skillet.) If desired, prepare cutlets in advance, wrap tightly in aluminum foil and refrigerate until ready to cook. Before sautéing, coat each again with dry bread crumbs.

Fishing for Food Ideas This Fall?

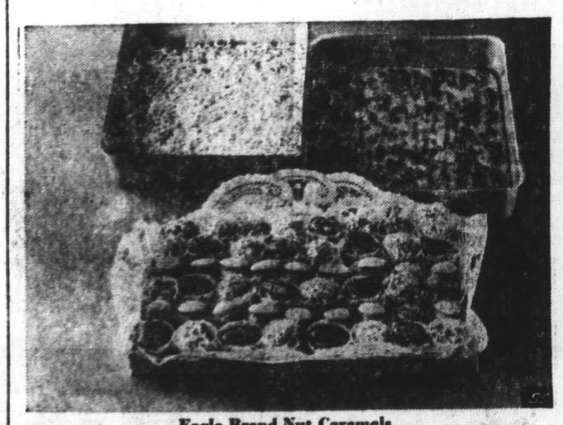
Bait family appetites when they lag with fresh fish in a novel form. Here's a Borden Kitchen way: haddock fillets sauced with nutty-sweet Gruyere, all nested in chopped spinach. With such an appetizing dish, surely the cook needn't angle for a compliment.

Cheese-Haddock Florentine
(Makes 4 servings)

- 1 pound fresh haddock fillets
- 2 cups water (approximately)
- 1/2 cup dry white wine
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 teaspoon dehydrated parsley flakes
- 1 teaspoon dehydrated instant minced onions
- 1/4 teaspoon thyme
- 2-1/2 cups (two 10-oz. packages) frozen chopped spinach, cooked and very well drained
- 2 tablespoons new Danish margarine or butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/4 cup homogenized milk
- 3/4 cup shredded Borden's Gruyere Cheese (three 1-oz. portions)

Place haddock in a 9- or 10-inch skillet; add just enough water to cover. Add wine, bay leaf, parsley, minced onions, and thyme. Simmer over low heat 5 minutes, or until fish is tender. Remove haddock from poaching liquid; reserve 3/4 cup of the liquid. Arrange drained spinach evenly in a lightly buttered shallow 9-inch oven-proof casserole or baking dish; top with haddock. In a medium-size saucepan melt margarine or butter over low heat. Add flour; stir until mixture is smooth. Remove from heat; gradually add milk and reserved poaching liquid. Cook until smooth and thick; stir constantly. Add shredded cheese; stir until melted. Pour cheese sauce over haddock and spinach. Place under broiler 4 inches from heat. Glaze 1-2 minutes or until cheese sauce is lightly browned. Serve immediately.

Many Splendored Sweets for Sweet



Eagle Brand Nut Caramels
(Makes about 45 caramels)

- 1-1/3 cups (15-oz. can) Eagle Brand sweetened condensed milk
- 1 cup light corn syrup
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cup chopped unblanched almonds
  OR
- 1/4 cup chopped pecans
- 1/4 cup chopped walnuts
- 1/4 cup chopped almonds

In a medium-size heavy saucepan combine Eagle Brand and corn syrup; bring to a boil over medium heat. Boil 15-20 minutes, stirring constantly. Syrup will be thick and caramel colored. Add salt and chopped almonds or other nut mixture. Pour syrup into a buttered 8 x 8-inch pan and cool at room temperature until firm enough to cut into squares. Shape these squares into balls; place in small candy paper cups, then decorate with whole pecans, whole blanched almonds, or chocolate sprinkles. If desired, dribble melted unsweetened chocolate over mixture in pan; let cool, then cut into squares, diamond shapes, or rectangles.

Marshmallow Caramels
(Makes about 45 caramels)

Variation: Follow recipe for Eagle Brand Caramels, omitting nuts, but adding:

- 16 (one 4-oz. pkg.) Campfire Marshmallows
- 3-1/2 oz. (1 can) flaked coconut

Boil caramel mixture 15 minutes; add marshmallows. Boil 5 more minutes, stirring constantly. Cover the bottom of a buttered 8 x 8-inch pan with half of the flaked coconut; cover with caramel mixture. Top with rest of coconut. Cool at room temperature, then cut into desired shapes.

Travel for Food; Be Cosmopolitan

Most Americans have become so cosmopolitan in their cooking they think little of blending the best of several nations in one dish. In this recipe the Borden Kitchen took a favorite of the Italians, zucchini, nestled it in a bed of Spanish rice, then topped them both with very-sharp American cheese slices. Result: an entreé to add zest to any meal, zeal to any appetite.

Cheese, Rice and Zucchini
(Makes 4 to 6 servings)

- 3 small zucchini squashes
- 2 (15-oz.) cans Spanish Rice Dinner
- 8 slices (one 6-oz. package) Borden's Vera-Sharp brand pasteurized process American cheese

Cook zucchini in boiling water 10 minutes, then remove from water and drain. Cut up 4 cheese slices and combine with Spanish rice. Place zucchini in buttered 11-3/4 x 7-3/4 x 1-3/4-inch baking dish. Spoon Spanish rice mixture around zucchini. Bake in a hot (400° F.) oven 20 minutes. Remove from oven. Overlap cheese slices on top of zucchini. Return to oven. Bake about 15 minutes longer, or until cheese melts and zucchini is tender.

SKIPPY PET FOOD — Pet Stew — Really Good

Grapefruit Granita Is Quite Refreshing

Italian cuisine has simple but marvelous late season warm weather offerings— water ices that have a fascinating texture. When the well-known food writer, Nika Standen Hazelton, was a child, she spent summers in Italy. In one of her cookbooks she recalls these Italian ices—with nostalgia.

They are "honest undiluted fruit juices, mixed with sugar only, and frozen to a mush that is incredibly cool on a hot day," says Nika.

Then she adds. "Granite, as these semisolid water ices are called, were favorites of the Romans—those ancient bon vivants used snow from the Appenines, and honey for sweetening."

No snow from the Appenines have we, but we do have excellent frozen fruit-juice concentrates to use in granite. Recently we tried a refreshing granita made with frozen concentrated grapefruit juice. In this American recipe, the sweetened, concentrate is coupled with a sugar syrup, and ginger ale is also used.

We found this Grapefruit Granita both refreshing and interestingly different. Water ices and sherbets of orange, lemon and lime flavors may be bought, but we've never come upon a frozen dessert of grapefruit flavor in the usual shops. Here's the recipe for those cooks who are interested to try it.

GRAPEFRUIT GRANITA

1½ cups water
1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated sweetened grapefruit juice
¾ cup ginger ale
Chilled parfait (6 ounce size) or similar glasses

Into a medium saucepan turn the sugar and water; over low heat stir until sugar dissolves; quickly bring to a boil; lower heat and simmer without stirring for 5 minutes; remove from heat. Add the undiluted sweetened grapefruit concentrate and stir to defrost; stir in ginger ale.

Pour into an ice-cube tray (1-quart size) with grids removed. Place in ice-cube section of freezer (do not stir) until firm—2 to 3 hours. When it is ready, granita should have a texture that is snowlike plus some spots of almost free-flowing thick syrup; at this point the granita should be served. To do so, use a sturdy metal kitchen spoon of medium size; scrape the tip of the spoon over the granita to make large shavings. Spoon the shavings into the chilled parfait glasses; serve at once with iced teaspoons and straws. If fresh mint is at hand, you may wish to garnish the granita with some of the sprigs. Makes 4 to 5 servings. This recipe may be successfully doubled. In this case, the granita should be frozen in 2 ice-cube trays.

Note: If the granita is left in the freezer for as long as overnight, it will be like frozen snow without the syrupy almost free-flowing admixture. You may still be able to shave it with the spoon—especially if you let it stand in the refrigerator or at room temperature until it softens a bit. We like the hard-frozen granita served in sherbet glasses with vanilla ice cream.

Autumn Bean Dish Is Tasty

Heat fresh apple sauce with a cinnamon stick, a few whole cloves and slivers of lemon rind. Drain cut Blue Lake green beans; fold into sauce and heat through. Nice to serve with ham or chicken.

Adequate supply of the B vitamins in the diet aids steady nerves, normal appetite, good digestion, healthy skin. Eating a fresh Washington Delicious apple daily will supply some of the B vitamins, add stabilizing fruit acids and bulk to the diet.

Those Cool Refreshers Hit the Spot

On a warm fall day, nothing hits the spot with the younger generation like cool refreshing frosteds, ice cream sodas, shakes and other sparkling taste tantalizers. Here's quick energy to replace that spent on any and all group activities. With ice cream in the freezing compartment, milk in the "fridge," the entire family is ready to dispense hospitality on a moment's notice.

Choc Frosteds

For tween-agers and teen-agers, interesting flavor usually begins with chocolate and goes on from there. Here, the addition of peanut butter gives it a nice fillip and all the appeal of chocolate-covered peanuts that are so popular as candy.

When you begin with chocolate, you'll do well to make it with quick chocolate-flavored mix. It has rich chocolate flavor and it dissolves instantly in liquid. Keep this convenient powdered product handy, ready to serve you at any time.

For each 4 servings: Blend ⅔ cup quick chocolate-flavored mix and 2 tablespoons creamstyle peanut butter into ½-cup

For each soda: Combine 3 heaping teaspoons quick chocolate-flavored mix and ¼-cup milk in a glass; stir briskly until blended. Add a scoop of ice milk. Gradually add additional 2½ cups milk, stirring until blended. Pour into 4 tall chilled glasses and top each with a scoop of vanilla ice cream.

Hot Cheese Is Poured Over Lettuce

Pour hot cheese sauce over lettuce wedges, garnish with salami, pickled onions and ripe olives and you'll have a conversation starter as well as a delicious first course. If you wish you may adapt this recipe to a tossed salad. In that case, cut western iceberg lettuce crosswise to thick slices, then crosswise again so you will have crisp chunks. Cut the salami into thin strips and toss in a handful well-drained pitted ripe olives.

Gino's Hot Cheese-Sauced Lettuce

1 head Western iceberg lettuce
1 cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1-3 cup bottled Thousand Island dressing
1-3 cup dairy sour cream
¼ teaspoon salt
8 slices salami
4 pickled onions
4 pitted ripe olives

Core, rinse and drain lettuce; place in disposable plastic bag and chill well. Combine cheese, dressing, sour cream and salt in saucepan heat, stirring over low heat until cheese is melted. Cut lettuce into four wedges place spoke-fashion on serving plate. Pour hot sauce over wedges and fold 2 salami slices over each wedge. Place one onion and olive on each of 4 toothpicks; spike into wedges. Makes four servings.

CakeRomance For a Snack

Create a cake for candlelight or moonlight snack by substituting ½ cup creme de cacao for that much of the water in preparing a yellow cake mix. Fold ... chopped natural almonds and bake as directed. Frost with butter cream frosting ... with additional almonds.

President George Washington's favorite frozen dessert was strawberry ice cream, and he would frequently order as many as 100 pints at one time.

Pork Chops Served Up With Nectarines

That lovely fruit, the fresh nectarine, is one of the late season's best offerings.

We probably do not need to remind you how attractive and delicious nectarines are in a fruit bowl. The bowl may be used as a centerpiece for your dining table and then be passed for the dessert course.

Or if you want to offer a "made" dessert, you might add nectarines to Ambrosia—that old-fashioned combination of sliced oranges and grated coconut.

Nectarines also do splendid service with meat and fish We particularly like them served with curry—whether it is made with chicken, beef or shrimp. For this course, just pit and slice the nectarines and arrange them in an attractive bowl on a tray with other condiments—salted peanuts (whole or ground), crumbled crisply cooked bacon, French-fried onion rings.

Teamed with skillet-cooked pork chops as in the following recipe, you'll find nectarines add refreshing flavor.

PORK CHOPS WITH NECTARINES

5 loin or rib pork chops about 1-inch thick
1 tablespoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1-3 cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
2 tablespoons finely grated onion, pulp and juice
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon dry rosemary leaves
Generous dash of cayenne pepper
3 cups quartered fresh nectarines (3 to 5)
1 teaspoon cornstarch
½ cup water
Parsley sprigs, if on hand

Where necessary, cut away most of fat from around chops. Sprinkle chops with ½ teaspoon of the salt.

In a large skillet, melt the butter; add chops and brown on both sides.

In a small bowl, stir together the remaining ½ teaspoon of salt, chili sauce, wine vinegar, grated onion, Worcestershire sauce, rosemary and cayenne; pour over browned chops in skillet. Cover and simmer until chops are tender—45 to 50 minutes. Remove chops to a heated serving dish; keep warm. Skim excess fat from mixture in skillet.

Gradually stir cold water into cornstarch, keeping smooth. Add to mixture in skillet. Cook and stir constantly until clear, thickened and boiling. Mix in quartered nectarines; heat for about 5 minutes. Spoon nectarines and sauce over chops. Garnish with parsley. Makes 5 nish with parsley. Makes 5 servings. Good served with mashed potatoes and green beans topped with onion rings.

Breakfast Better Meal Than Before

It is estimated that now over 60 per cent eat better breakfasts compared to less than 50 per cent in the Fifties. Today's breakfast is light, quick to prepare, and usually even quicker to eat.

A good homemade coffee cake, baked the day before, helps to excite the appetite for the first meal of the day. Corn Flake Sour Cream Coffee Cake is one of the finest for it's especially moist and flavorsome. A crumbly topping of crushed corn flakes mixed with spiced brown sugar and butter adds to its delicacy.

Add a glass of orange juice, ready-to-eat cereal with milk and a beverage, and you have an interesting variation of a basic cereal and milk breakfast which is the modern light yet adequate morning meal, and it is so easy and convenient.

CORNFLAKE SOUR CREAM COFFEE CAKE

Cake
1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ reaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup granulated sugar
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
2 eggs
½ pint (1 cup) dairy sour cream

Topping
2 cups corn flakes, crushed to make 1 cup crumbs
½ cup brown sugar, packed
½ cup chopped pecans
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Prepare cake batter. Combine flour, baking powder, soda, and salt; sift. Cream butter or margarine. Add sugar, lemon rind, and eggs; beat well. Add dry ingredients to egg mixture, alternately with sour cream; blend well. Spread batter into greased 13x9x2-inch pan. Combine topping ingredients; mix well. Sprinkle half of the topping over batter and cut through batter several times with spatula or knife. Sprinkle remaining topping over batter. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until done, about 30 minutes. Yield: One 13x9-inch coffee cake.

Menu Change and New Chef for Stickney's

ADRIAN STICKNEY'S famous barbecued meats are now delighting the palates of San Mateo gourmets at his fabulous Stagecoach restaurant, cocktail lounge and coffee shop, located on the ground floor of the new nine-story Fifth Avenue Center. Stickney's of San Mateo has recently changed the restaurant menu back to the barbecued meat courses and de luxe family dinners that have made his five other Peninsula restaurants such long-time favorites. To direct this change in menu, Stickney moved his head chef, Red Williams, who has been with him 13 years, from the Santa Clara "Hick'ry House" to the new San Mateo Stagecoach restaurant. Food prices in the dining room range from $2.60 up to $5.50 for de luxe dinners. A la carte meals are also available, including the famous Stickney's barbecued spareribs and French fries at $2.05.

LAS VEGAS HOTEL THUNDERBIRD'S ever-changing entertainment lineup returned to a "name star" policy. Tuesday evening, with Broadway comedy star Kaye Ballard in the feature spot. The Thunderbird is the only Las Vegas "Strip" hotel maintaining a flexible showroom policy offering top name stars, stage spectaculars or a combination of both. Following the appearance of Robert Goulet, Judy Garland, Jack Benny and other top flight personalities last Summer, the T-Bird switched over and presented the French production "C'est la Femme," which completed a highly successful year-long run last Sunday . . . Joao Donato, pianist-composer star of the bossa nova, is now appearing nightly, except Mondays, throuugh Sept. 25, in Nero's Nook at the plush Palo Alto Cabana Motor Hotel . . . Lew Lehr, the Marina steak man, is an avid golfer. He and his head bartender, Stan Marcus, are rivals on the links.

FOR A LIVELY GOOD TIME, stop by the Prime Rib Inn in Palo Alto this evening, and join Claudia Kennedy and the gang in singing some of your favorite tunes. Claudia presides over the organbar of this delightful British dinery every Wednesday through Saturday. And even if you can't croon like Bing, you'll enjoy listening to the sprightly music . . . The "Shooting of Dan McGrew" number at Goman's Gay 90's, with the entire cast getting into the act, is a big laugh-getter and show-stopper . .. The Hotel Canterbury's outdoor Garden Patio is open seven days a week for luncheon and dinner with their famed Ramos Fizz Brunch on Sundays . . . Notis Issichopoulous is a mouthful of a name, but it also represents one of Greece's top pianist and accordionist. Notis entertains nightly in the show at the charming Balkan Village supperclub in Los Altos. He arranges the music for his bouzouki orchestra.

Claudia Kennedy

WALLY ALLEN AND MARIE GLENN, the versatile comedy and acro-adagio team now headling the show at the Cameo Club, Palo Alto, don't fit the standard image of the night club performer. Neither smokes, drinks nor suffers the pallor that comes with sleep-by-day, perform-by-night occupations. Wally, who has the wasp-waist and bulging muscles of a weightlifter, and moves with the graceful agility of a cat, is an ardent skin diver and hunter of sharks. He is a former AAU five-mile swimmer. His attractive wife, Marie, also a superbly sculptured specimen, gave up the skin diving bit after being muzzled by a 20-foot shark . . . The Grand Opening of the new Round Room in the Villa Roma, 1212 Columbus at Bay, near Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco, has been moved ahead to Wednesday, September 21, according to owner Jim Hamm. French pianist Chris Ibenez and bassist Vernon Alley have been signed to play an extended engagement.

Wally Allen

KARL HANDWERK, waiter captain at L'Auberge, the posh little retreat for gastronomes, is back from a six-month sabbatical in Europe. Karl is German-born and a master of the European ideal of good service—attentive, helpful and courteous, without intruding or being overbearingly persistent about removing your plate or wine glass before you're finished. As a waiter, he's the Cezanne of the Chafing Dishes . . . Del Vecchio's, popular San Francisco restaurant on Broadway that's open seven days a week, is one of the few places to feature T-bone steaks . . . Mace Franklin, the funnyman of the piano, was welcomed back by many of his friends when he opened his current engagement Wednesday at Martinelli's Steak Pit in Millbrae. Mace has fresh new lyrics and parodies to your old favorites for your enjoyment at the swingin' pianobar. He entertains Wednesdays through Saturdays.

VETERAN RESTAURATEUR NICK FINOCCHIO has served three generations of San Franciscans at his New Tivoli since his father, Bernard, built the restaurant back in 1912. After 54 years, the New Tivoli is still one of San Francisco's most popular Italian restaurants . . . Nevada fun seekers are in for a "slot machine treat" when visiting Barney's Casino, Lake Taho (Shouth Shore). Barney's has installed many new "space-looking" machines that are overflowing with bonus prizes. The jackpot bell seems to ring louder than a bill collector pressing your door bell . . . One thing you can count on: Lovable Sil Oliva, "skipper" of the San Francisco Fisherman's Wharf Exposition Fish Grotto, to day-off next Wednesday for the opening of the Bay Meadows Races. And, what's more, you can be sure he won't be the only one "playing hookey" from their restaurant business.

RETURNING TO NORTH LAKE TAHOE'S Crystal Bay Club on Thursday, September 15, are the hilarious threesome, The Novelites. Joe Mayer, Frankie Carr and Chuck Leonard are acknowledged to be tops in their fun-predictable field. They are one of the most popular acts in show business and booked solid through the year. Best known as side-splitting, funny comedians, they are also top song sellers and are backed by a quartet of accomplished musicians. Also opening on Thursday is Frankie Fanelli, whose singing is a delight to audiences in all the entertainment world. Enjoy a vacation at the beautiful north end of Lake Tahoe, and the fine array of talent at the Crystal Bay Club . . . Gabor Szabo, Hungarian jazz guitarist, has added guitarist Eddie Duran to his quartet at The Trident on Sausalito's Bridgeway. Albert Stinson, bass, and Jim Keltner, drums, are backing the two guitarists.

Frankie Fanelli

Reggie Dahl Also Former Stage Star

One of the most talented dance performers in San Francisco's afterdark circuit is versatile Reggie Dahl, one of the stars of the colorful show at Finocchio's at 506 Broadway.

Reggie studied interpretative dancing as a child, and had a successful career in vaudeville before becoming one of America's outstanding female impersonators. He appears four times nightly at Finocchio's, each appearance entirely new. One of his specialties is a takeoff on a high wire act, which always winds up with thunderous applause from the audience.

Organist Harvey Kaye is the "Sparkplug" of the sensational Fydallions band at Hilton Inn Tiger Club. Harvey formerly headed the Larks rock band that played at most top Bay Area clubs. All five members of the Fydallions star on vocals.

Adventurous sippers will enjoy sampling the many tropical drinks served at the Castaway on Coyote Point. A favorite libation here is the "Passionate Virgin," a combination of West Indies rums and exotic fruit juices, served in a pineapple. It's billed on the menu as "A definite persuader"!

Vince Licata and family off again to the Lake Tahoe area. Which means floor shows at South Shore Harrah's the Nugget in Sparks, and a few stops at the various tables (and I don't mean the kind on which dinner is served).

Clarita, formful dancing headliner currently at the Sinaloa, keeps her trim and slim figure by playing tennis—and has won many trophies in this country and South America.

Business continues to be fantastic at Phil Lehr's Steakery and new Wellington Room. Last week again set an all-time record. People love those steaks!

Beat the Villa Coffee House's Old Fashioned Buttermilk Pancakes and you'll be the new champion. Your Bright Lighter switches the breakfast menu here around a bit — one time pancakes, one time French Toast.

How about that new Gourmet Table advertisement! Just follow the arrow and you will experience real food gratification. Lunches start at $1.10, dinners from $1.65. Cozy cocktail lounge for before and after dinner cocktails.

One of the best "buys" on the noon-day luncheon circuit: Business Men's Special served at Augie's on Third Avenue.

S.F.O. HELICOPTER SERVICE — The utmost in comfort awaits you when you stay at the Hilton Inn at the Airport, as proven here by S.F.O. Helicopter pilot Pat Donovan, who "dropped in" with a plane filled with passengers, and was immediately given a warm welcome by Hilton Inn's lovely hostess, Rosie Zibull, who greeted Pat with a refreshing bottle of ice-cold Ginger Ale.

Frank Dennison "Dapper Dan" Of the Month

Nomination for the "Dapper Dan" of the month goes to Frank Dennison of the Caravan Inn, Mountain View. The stylish innkeeper manages to work 18 hours a day, but keeps looking fresh with a fortune in smartly styled clothes, none of which he wears a second time without having them pressed. His collection of cufflinks rivals that of Jake Ehrlich, the prominent San Francisco barrister.

Slowly but surely, Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City is becoming a show place antique headquarters. What with dinner business being at the reservation stage each evening, it wouldn't be surprising if co-owner Mary Lou started a guest tour through the restaurant at appointed hours to point out the historic curios.

The Fior d'Itlaia, which recently celebrated its eightieth anniversary, was the first restaurant in San Francisco to reopen after the 1906 quake and fire. They served minestrone only—in a tent.

Mama Bertolucci Does the Shopping

You haven't "lived" until you've lunched on Mamma Bertolucci's Stuffed Bell Pepper or Baked Lasagna at Bertolucci's in South San Francisco. Mamma still does her own shopping for fresh vegetables, goes to Half Moon Bay for the best artichokes. "You can't hardly find such Tender, Loving Care" in the kitchen anymore.

Villa Chartier And Lanai Banquet Specialists

Party chairmen will do well to heed the advice of the Villa Chartier and The Lanai restaurants when planning banquets or business meetings. A phone call to "Barbara" at 341-3456 will let you "In" on the particulars. Special menus may also be arranged to fit the occasion.

It's a wild, wild scene every Tuesday night at Wayne Manor in Sunnyvale during those marathon dance contests. Winners of last week's semi-finals with a prize of $150 were Art Chase and Connie Prescott. Final competition is slated to be held soon with Grand Prize a Trip to Hawaii. Manager Jay De Keyser invites anyone who digs Pop Art of the Batman and Friends and the "Soul Sound" of the Prime Ministers. Opening next Tuesday: the Band of Gold group.

If you've grown tired of the usual luncheon fare, try one of chef Rene Canabou's gourmet lunches at Cote D'Azur in Atherton. Each day, five superb Continental dishes such as Beef Bourguigonne, Veal Marengo and London Broil are featured in addition to the big regular menu that lists favorites such as Caesar Salad and Cannelloni Marseillais.

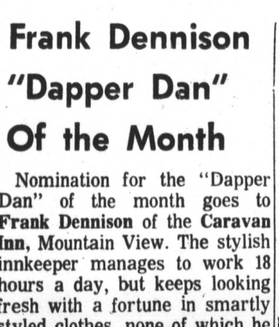
You would almost expect to find a restaurant like Dino's of San Mateo in a hideaway location—as food such as served here is seldom to be found in the center of town. You will be ever so pleased with the Continental-Italian cuisine; luncheon and dinner.



SPECIAL OCCASIONS

can be the link between you and a festive evening at Hyatt House Burlingame. For birthdays, weddings, anniversaries, any special celebration—this is the setting for happy memories. Gourmet food and fine entertainment are part of the luxury you enjoy at every Hyatt House hotel. Ideal for banquets and meetings, too.

Special Attraction: Bob Wellman and his Orchestra in the magnificent Scheherazade Room.

At today's prices, can a house be a bargain?

By 1970 it may cost you 20% more.

Remember the great housing buys of a few years ago? Well, before long, you may regard today's prices as bargains, too.

California builders say that rising costs for labor and materials are adding around $1,000 every year to the price of a new $20,000 house. They foresee a 20% increase by 1970.

Today's houses can be a good buy in another way, too. Home ownership still is the most rewarding investment many people can make.

Compare a house with a car. They're both major purchases (and the interest rate on a car is twice as high as on a house). But the car depreciates every time you turn the key. By the time you own it, it's worth just a fraction of what you've shelled out.

How different with a well-chosen house! Its steady rise in value acts as a hedge against inflation. After years of good living for your family, your property can be worth far more than you paid for it. You have a neat nest egg, acquired through "enforced savings." And you're way ahead on income taxes, since interest and property taxes are deductible.

A good deal? Millions of Californians agree. Especially if you don't delay. Inflationary pressures keep pushing prices up. The westward tide of new residents continues. And, of course, there's no way to create more land!

The longer you wait to buy, the more you may have to pay. So, instead of waiting, why not start looking?

You'll find that the selection of desirable houses is at an all-time high now. New ones with long-term loans and low down payments. Older ones that frequently carry attractive financing, and lower mortgage interest rates. This great choice of houses makes possible some genuine bargains — if you shop around.

Your real estate broker knows the best buys in your area. His professional knowledge about financing, taxes and local schools can save you time and money. Why not put him to work? With his help, you'll find that now's the time to buy.
